

No Search Is Made For Man Believed Drowned in River

Ole A. Axelsen of Jersey City Disappears While Swimming From Tug Chowtow

At Esopus Island

LeRoy Ennist, Bloomington, Says Man Swimming Near Island

Ole A. Axelsen, a deckhand on the Choclaw, W. E. Hedger Transportation Corp., tug, is believed to have drowned last evening while swimming alongside of the boat bound north up the Hudson river with a tow off Esopus Island.

Because of what Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux said was a heavy current of the island, and an out-going tide, grappling for the body would have been useless in the 100-foot depth of the river at that point.

According to the sheriff, Axelsen disappeared between 5 p. m. and the time he was notified at 6 o'clock from the moving tugboat, and this lapse in time prevented the crew from naming a definite location where Axelsen disappeared.

Sheriff Molyneux was notified at 6 o'clock by the Kingston police of the accident after a phone call to the department from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary about Axelsen's disappearance from the Choclaw.

Ennist Gives Story
In his investigation, the sheriff was told by LeRoy Ennist of Bloomington, made on the tug, that Axelsen had been swimming alongside the boat, using a rope, as is the custom among the crew, to climb back to the deck.

Ennist, who had been swimming himself, in the same fashion, spoke to Axelsen from an open door in the cabin as he started to dress himself after his dip in the Hudson. When he finished putting on his clothes he spoke to Axelsen, but got no answer.

Going on deck, he saw the rope trailing in the water, but his crew-mate was missing.

When Captain Chauncey H. Blackmer of Coxackie was notified, he cut the tug loose from the tow of boats and the crew began a search for Axelsen but without success. The captain communicated with Mt. St. Alphonsus and the Kingston police were notified by phone.

Sheriff Molyneux with deputies Arthur Brown and Charles McCullough drove to the monastery at 6 o'clock and students there brought him to the tug in their power launch.

No Definite Spot
Questioning the crew, the sheriff got no definite information on the exact point in the river where Axelsen disappeared, and thus a search by grappling for the man believed to have been drowned was deemed useless by him and the boatmen.

It was the consensus of authorities and those concerned that the current and tide probably removed the body a considerable distance down the river from the point where Ennist noticed that Axelsen was not holding on the rope fastened to the tug.

Papers in the possessions of Axelsen gave his address as 31 Montgomery street, Jersey City, and named a brother, T. Axelsen, of 765 51st street, Brooklyn, with whom Sheriff Molyneux communicated this morning.

Axelsen was five feet, 11 inches in height, weighed 218 pounds and had bushy light brown hair. He was 39 or 40 years of age. He wore a signet ring with the initial A on it.

Found Shot Dead

Jerusalem, June 22 (AP)—Paul Valentine Bach, believed by police to be a United States citizen from New York, was found shot dead in a street at Kiriak Motzkin, a small settlement near Haifa, today.

San Diego, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Walt Mason, 77, humorist and poet, died early today in his home at suburban La Jolla after an illness of several weeks.

Mason became ill a few days before his birthday May 4. He was a native of Columbus, Ont., and came to the United States in 1880. That same year he was launched on his newspaper career when he got a job on a job press in St. Louis.

The poet's newspaper experience included jobs on the Atchison, Kas., Globe; Lincoln, Neb., State Journal, and Emporia, Kas., Gazette.

His poems were published by 200 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

Mason was survived by a daughter, Mary. His wife died in 1936.

Huey Long's Brother To Govern Louisiana

Elevation of Earl K. Long, Lieutenant Governor, Puts Southern State Into Turmoil

Baton Rouge, La., June 22 (AP)—An unheralded change in Louisiana governors that will elevate Lieutenant Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late "Kingfish" Huey P. Long, put the state in a political whirl today.

Governor Richard W. Leche announced last night he would resign next week, with nearly 11 months of his term unexpired. As lieutenant governor, Long will succeed automatically.

Although Leche gave ill health—two severe arthritis attacks—as his immediate reason, observers noted the announcement followed days of almost continuous conferences and paralleled a federal investigation of WPA activities in the state.

The fiery, quick-tempered, 43-year-old lieutenant governor, whose career has included staunch support and bitter denunciation of the late Senator Long, immediately rushed to New Orleans for political conferences. He issued a statement he would carry on "the fine work done in the past ten years under my brother, Gov.

Upstate Minister Accepts Comforter Church Pastorate

The Rev. Russell Damstra of Minaville Reformed Church Assumes His Duties September 1

REV. RUSSELL DAMSTRA

The Rev. Russell Damstra, for seven years minister of the Minaville Reformed Church near Amsterdam, N. Y., has notified the consistory of the Reformed Church of the Comforter that he will accept the call sent to him to serve the local church as its pastor.

At a recent congregational meeting held at the Church of the Comforter, the members of the church voted to extend a call to the Rev. Mr. Damstra, who had been heard as a candidate for the pulpit which was vacated in February when the Rev. C. P. Musters accepted a call to the pastorate of the Fourth Reformed Church of Philadelphia. A formal call upon the Rev. Mr. Damstra was made by the consistory of the church and approved by the Classis of Ulster, which body met in special session for that purpose.

The new minister will assume his duties at the Church of the Comforter on September 1. The church will be closed during August, and various guest speakers will supply the pulpit during July.

George and Elizabeth Greet Two Daughters

Southampton, Eng., June 22 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth, returning triumphantly from their tour of the United States and Canada, were welcomed home joyously by their two small daughters while their liner still was steaming through the mist covered English Channel.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose went aboard from a destroyer as the Empress of Britain carried their Majesties toward a tumult of greetings from millions of their subjects ashore.

The mist prompted cancellation of vast naval exercises of welcome planned for the 31 ships and 14,000 sailors on the home fleet, but dreary weather had no effect on the enthusiasm of those on land.

About $3,000 Paid By Divine 'Angels'

Satisfactions Are Filed in County Clerk's Office by Revenue Group

Approximately 30 satisfactions have been filed in the county clerk's office by the Internal Revenue Department in income tax lien cases against followers of Father Divine.

Commissioner Hickey of the Albany office stated that the government had been successful in only three or four cases in collecting tax and that approximately $3,000 had been collected in the cases. The department is not permitted to give out the names of the defendants or the amount of tax which was paid in any case.

About a year and a half ago an investigation was commenced to ascertain the source of income from which followers of Father Divine received the money which was used to purchase properties for the cult. That investigation went on for several months and resulted in the filing of assessments against about 78 of the followers who names appear on deeds to real property in this locality.

Method of Assessments
These assessments were made after the persons cited had failed to provide satisfactory statements to the government as to source of income and amount of income. The assessments were based on the amount of money paid for real property and each defendant had a right to show that the assess-

More Changes Appear Imminent in Wagner Measure in Order to Satisfy Some Critics

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Revision of labor board regulations failed today to satisfy some critics of the Wagner Act, and as a result further changes appeared imminent.

The board's decision to permit employers, like unions, to ask for collective bargaining elections in certain instances brought these developments.

Senator Ellender (D., La.) predicted further revision of the board's rules, including a proposal to assure both employers and workers at least 10 months of freedom each year from disputes between unions.

Two house members who declined use of their names said the House would be asked to author-

Latest British-French Note to Soviet Marks Little Progress

Washington, June 22 (AP)—The United States government has bluntly informed Japan that, instead of clearing out of Chinese harbors, its warships will stay in these ports "as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

(By The Associated Press)

The world's interest in Japan's actions in China switched abruptly today from the blockaded concessions of Tientsin to Swatow, newly-captured China port 1,300 miles to the south.

United States and British naval authorities there were reported to have rejected a Japanese demand for removal of British and American destroyers and citizens.

Meanwhile, the situation at Tientsin remained static but tense, a government spokesman in London announced that continuation of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin "will obviously lead to counter measures" by Great Britain. He added that the government still hoped for a local settlement.

Another Japanese blockade, that at the international settlement of Kulsungu at Amoy, brought a protest from foreign consuls. They objected to Japanese navy efforts to divert food intended for Kulsungu Island.

Business at Standstill

In Shanghai business approached a standstill as a result of a moratorium declared by Chinese banks on Chinese currency payments. The action was understood to be due to a recent drop in the Chinese dollar from about 16.12 cents to 12.62 cents.

The Soviet government received the latest British-French proposals coolly, announcing that they did not mark any progress.

Libertucci Furnishes Bail Late Wednesday

James Libertucci of Ravena, driver of the Vasto truck which crashed into a pole at Malden Tuesday afternoon resulting in the death of Harold Smith, helper on the truck, was admitted to $1,500 bail Wednesday afternoon. Libertucci was arrested Wednesday at Ravena and arraigned before Justice Bennett at Saugerties on a criminal negligence charge. He waived examination and was held to await action of the grand jury. Late Wednesday afternoon he provided the required bail and was released from custody.

Smith died from injuries suffered when he was crushed between the truck cab and a pole as Libertucci swerved his truck from the road to avoid a truck which was approaching along a side road at the Malden four corners. State Trooper Walter Keefe made the arrest.

GOP Leaders Openly Defy Governor's Call

Aggravation Felt Because Lehman Failed to Talk Over Appropriate Date for Special Session

Albany, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—Republican legislative leaders openly defied today Democratic Governor Lehman's summons for opening of a special session tomorrow to repair an invalidated budget.

Republican leaders, admittedly aggrieved because the governor failed to consult them on an appropriate date for the special session, instructed many party members not to appear at the capitol until "when your presence is necessary." Two leaders termed the governor's action the "height of discourtesy."

The executive called the session yesterday after the court of appeals held unconstitutional the Republican elimination of his itemized appropriations and substitution of reduced lump sums.

Heck Says 'Stay Home'

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck disclaimed he wired Republican assemblymen they need not come for tomorrow's opening of the session because "there will be nothing for them to do until an agreement is reached on procedure and how repairs will be made in the invalidated spending program containing $135,000,000 appropriations for 18 state departments.

"The first I knew about the special session," Heck said, "was the official announcement" from the governor in a newspaper I saw in New York city.

Republican Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley, Perry, asserted "the least the governor could have done before calling a special session was to notify leaders."

Both Heck and Hanley agreed, however, that despite instructions "to stay away," sufficient legislators would be on hand to organize the session.

Esopus Adopts Plan For New Fire Zone

The Town Board of the town of Esopus has adopted unanimously a resolution of approval of the creation of a new fire district in the town.

At the special meeting of the board, on petition of owners of more than half the assessed valuation of property, and following a public hearing at Red Men's Hall, Esopus, the board adopted the resolution of necessity and demand which fixes the bounds of the fire district.

This new district will include the property lying generally in the Ulster Park, Union Center, Esopus and West Park areas.

Milton District Is Not Insured

Families of Men Killed However Would Not Get Line-of-Duty Aid

The Milton Fire District, owners of the fire engine which met with an accident Sunday resulting in the death of two men, both of whom were not members of the company, carries no insurance to protect the Fire District against accidents to members of the department who may be killed while in line of duty.

Under the law a volunteer fireman who is killed while engaged in line of duty brings his family within the provision of the law which requires payment by the district to the survivors of such fireman the sum of $3,000. Many fire districts insure the district against such loss but the Milton district does not carry such insurance.

The death of the two men Sunday however does not bring the Milton Fire District within this provision of the law since neither were members of the fire department and it has been definitely ascertained that the trip was unauthorized by the commissioners and the truck was not responding to an alarm.

Thiell Admits He Drove Milton Fire Truck on Sunday

Chief of Department Tells State Trooper He Took Pumper on Test; Cites Difficulty

Chief Frederick J. Thiell admitted Wednesday to State Trooper John S. Metzger of the B. C. I. that he was the driver of the Milton fire truck which crashed Sunday afternoon on route 9-W between Marlborough and Milton, causing the death of Anthony Fanizzi, Milton tavern-keeper, and resulting later in the death of Clarence Alsford, two of the six men in the truck.

Thiell, the only member of the Milton Fire Company on the truck, told Trooper Metzger that he had taken the truck out on a "practice run" to test the machine and that while coming north near the Hepworth road-side stand the truck had encountered difficulty but he could not recall what happened after that. He was unable to tell the officer who had been seated with him on the front seat of the truck at the time and did not go into detail as to what "difficulty" he had encountered. It was on the Hepworth curve that the truck passed a slower moving car and then went out of control on the straightway just north, after missing south-bound cars and finally sideswiped the Abrams car.

Clears Up Question

The statement made by Chief Thiell Wednesday at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, clears up the question of who was driving at the time.

"There were five men on that truck at the time of the accident and we wanted to establish definitely who was the driver from the occupants of the truck," said Trooper Metzger today. "We knew that Thiell had been reported as the driver of the vehicle but we did not want to be faced later with a statement that he did not drive. His admission yesterday that he drove the truck clears up the question and definitely places him at the wheel," said the officer.

In Good Condition

At the hospital the officers found Thiell in good condition and hospital authorities allowed the officers to question Thiell for some time. His chances of recovery are reported as good and his most severe injury is fractured ribs. Thiell told the officers he expected to leave the hospital in a day or two but hospital authorities believe it will be necessary for him to remain there for perhaps a week.

Outside his admission that he drove the truck and that he was out on a practice or test run, the chief made no further reference as to where the truck had gone or why the non-members were on the truck.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray, who is conducting the investigation, stated today that Thiell would be arrested on a warrant charging criminal negligence just as soon as his physical condition permitted.

F.D.R. Estimates at Least $870,000,000 Would Be Disbursed as Loans After July 1

'Won't Cost Cent'

Chief Executive Says in Long Run the Taxpayers Won't Stand Cost

Washington, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to Congress today a $3,860,000,000 program for stimulating business through self-liquidating projects and low cost housing developments.

The President estimated that at least $870,000,000 would be disbursed in federal loans during the year starting July 1. The remainder of the program, split into six types of self-liquidating projects, would continue for from two to seven years.

The President said that in the long run the program would not cost the taxpayers a cent so far as self-liquidating projects were concerned.

He outlined his proposals in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the Senate unemployment committee, and sent copies to other Senate and House leaders.

Limit on Projects

Mr. Roosevelt explained that there would be a limit on the self liquidating projects of $3,060,000,000 over the two to seven years period which their construction would embrace and that as money came in from loans it would be put out again as needed to stimulate employment and business.

Another $800,000,000 would be added to the borrowing capacity of the United States Housing Authority under the President's plan.

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not state how much of this would be used in the next fiscal year but that the money would be applied to providing low cost homes for persons with incomes in the $1,250 to $2,000 class. These are not covered by either the present slum clearance program or the FHA operations, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Meanwhile, at the capitol Senator Frank J. La Follette (D-Mont.) said he had support of Secretary Morgenthau and Hopkins for "the general principle" of his bill to provide government backing for loans to small business.

He declared Hopkins would testify shortly before the Senate banking subcommittee considering the Mead bill "and suggest some amendments."

Calls for Insurance
The Mead bill calls for insurance by the RFC of up to 90 per cent of bank loans to small and medium-sized business.

Mead said he had discussed the insured loans bill with Morgenthau and the treasury head "did not come out flat-footed for it but indicated he favored my proposals."

President Roosevelt divided his proposed self-liquidating projects into these six groups:

First, under the new federal works agency, loans would be made for such self liquidating projects as water works, sewage disposal plants, bridges and hospitals.

The ceiling for this program, Mr. Roosevelt said, is $350,000,000 and the government would put out $150,000,000 in the first year—starting July 1. The program would last two years.

Second, under the bureau of public roads would be constructed projects for post roads, toll roads, bridges, high speed highways, and expressways with a four-year ceiling of $750,000,000 and an outlay of $150,000,000 in the 1940 fiscal year.

Third, railroad equipment projects. The President said he believed it would be better for the government to create an authority.

Claims Record German Flies Glider Over Uncharted Bad Lands, Sets Down in Field

Albuquerque, N. M., June 22 (AP)—A glider pilot, intending to take a 10-minute observation flight over Winslow, Ariz., soared 300 miles over unmarked Arizona and western New Mexico lava bad lands and deserts, landing the motorless craft in a pasture 13 miles west of Magdalena, N. M.

The pilot, Capt. Peter Riedel of the German embassy staff in Washington, claimed an unofficial American city record at 17,600 feet, recorded on his thermal barograph.

"I got lost," said Capt. Riedel, who had only a compass and a road map to guide him on the first non-stop glider trip over the continental divide in the Rockies.

To Speak on Value Of WPA Projects

In an effort to show the productive and creative value of the Works Progress Administration projects, the Kingston branch of the American League for Peace and Democracy will present two speakers next Monday evening at the Uptown Community Center. One of the speakers will be Miss Ruth Reeves, of New York City, who compiled the "Index of American Design." The name of the other speaker has not been announced.

Miss Reeves, who now is a member of the Federal Art Project of the WPA, completed the "Index of American Design" after extensive research work. In it, she included the history and development of all of the folk arts in this country for the past 100 years, touching on stone, glass and iron crafts. The completed work is accepted as a textbook for schools and colleges and is used in the design of textiles.

In addition to the "Index," Miss Reeves also designed the tapestries and carpets in Radio City and the curtain used in the WPA theatre at the New York World's Fair.

At the meeting next Monday evening, she will talk on the "Index" and the WPA artists' projects.

Cooperating with the movement, members of the Uptown Community Center will show paintings done on WPA projects in an exhibition at the Uptown Community Center.

The meeting, a regular monthly meeting of the Kingston branch, is scheduled to start at 8:30 p. m.

Famous Istanbul Mosque One of Largest Churches

St. Sophia mosque in Istanbul, Turkey, is undoubtedly the world's best example of Byzantine architecture; but, from the outside, it might be mistaken for a factory or warehouse. (One of the world's largest churches, it shows 180 feet skyward and its dome is 107 feet in diameter.) Inside, the effect is more favorable. The 128 pillars—stolen from the temples of the ancient gods—lend an air of immensity, even if of nothing else. Eight serpentine columns were plundered from the Temple of Diana at Ephesus, and eight of porphyry from the Temple of the Sun at Baalbek. The building job required 10,000 workmen; the total cost—including the graft—was something like $60,000,000.

There are 500 mosques in Istanbul, and all are interesting—if you like mosques. In most of them you have to don slippers and shuffle around in an awkward attempt to keep them on. If you lose them your feet desecrate the sacred confines. In St. Sophia this practice no longer holds; the building is now a museum.

Of far greater interest to most tourists (especially the women) is the Seraglio palace, boasting, as it does, of such items as the Persian shah's throne, of massive gold and set with rubies, and a collection of pearls, sapphires, emeralds, and diamonds so large and perfect that no one has ever been able to compute their worth. The women, and even the men, likewise are taken in by the Grand Bazaar, which is a city in itself and which, covered partly as an arcade, is a maze of streets, lanes, and alleys.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

A jury of 12 men watched the machine curl the hair of a pretty girl model—then decided the case in favor of the beauty shop.

New Yorkers Get Little Fun Out of Battle of Dimes

New York, June 22 (AP)—"Toll-bound" Manhattanites who have to pay a fee to get off their tight little isle in almost any direction looked with little enthusiasm today on a seething battle for dimes on the New York-Connecticut state line.

Connecticut started it by installing ten cent toll booths yesterday on the Merritt Parkway at Greenwich to finance a new super-highway to the state capital, Hartford.

Adjacent Westchester county, New York, denying any retaliatory intent, immediately began charging motorists 10 cents per car for rolling over the scenic Hutchinson river and Saw Mill River Parkways.

If possible, Westchester county hopes to exempt its own residents from paying tolls in New York.

Other motorists bound from New York to New England on the "toll-gate route" would be caught for tolls on both sides of the "silver dime line."

If they motor to New Jersey it costs 50 cents toll through the Holland or Lincoln Tunnels under the Hudson or over the George Washington Bridge; by ferry boat in any direction the price is 5 cents for the pedestrian trade; to the north across the Hendrik Hudson Bridge over the Harlem river the toll is 10 cents per car, and to Long Island by the new Triborough Bridge it's 25 cents per car.

Before it was paid for, the Brooklyn Bridge charged pedestrians two cents per trip, but now it and the Manhattan, Williamsburg and Queensborough spans over the East river, to Brooklyn and Queens, are free as are a few others.

Approximately 800,000 house trailers are in use in the United States.

DRY BROOK

Dry Brook, June 22—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hiss of Akron, O., spent Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Haynes, while enroute to Canada.

Mrs. Bertha Eignoe of Big Indian spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Nathan Haynes, early in the week.

The Children's day exercises which were held in the M. E. Church Sunday afternoon, were enjoyed by all present. The following youngsters were baptized at the close of the exercises: Edna Mae and Robert Rosa, Maxine and Freida Whipple and Lois and Edwin Vermilyea.

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and daughter, Joan, also Howard and Elsie Heinz of Ridgefield Park, N. J., were Sunday visitors at the home of his sister, Mrs. Augustus Stewart, at Fern Crest Fox Ranch.

Miss Lona Haynes, a student nurse at Kingston Hospital, is spending a three-weeks' vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Haynes here.

The pupils of the Mapledale District school and their parents, enjoyed a closing day picnic at the Devil's Tombstone, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. LaCount Platt also her sisters, the Misses Fannie and Hila Ackerly, are spending some time at their summer home in Ryder Hollow.

The baked ham and strawberry supper for benefit of the M. E. Church which was held at the Evan Todd farm house Tuesday evening, was well attended. About $45 was realized.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 22, 1939.

THE PROFIT MOTIVE

Henry Ford, after seeing his 27,000,000th automobile produced, told the newspapers that the big thing for young men is to realize that "the work motive outstrips the profit motive."

"I have always believed," he said, "that if you go in for money and nothing but money, you will not get it. But if you go in sincerely and well prepared to do something useful, you will never lack the money to carry it out."

This is good philosophy and good ethics, which Mr. Ford himself has probably followed in a general way. It might well be followed by many young men who, in the spirit of their time, are disposed to put profit first, and to give useful service to society only in order to get personal wealth and power in return.

At the same time, unless our eyes and ears deceive us, our economic system is still based on the "profit motive." What would happen to our society if suddenly we all began taking Mr. Ford's words literally?

Maybe we would soon find that we had a Christian civilization.

And then again, maybe we would find that, in this present imperfect state of mankind, we still had to compromise and keep our eye on profit, in order to get a chance to do something useful in a big way.

COMMERCIAL AUTOGIRO

The two principal advantages of the autogiro, its ability to land and take off in small space and its high degree of safety, have always been outweighed in the judgment of airmen by its two disadvantages—slow speed and limited pay loads. Today, however, the autogiro seems about to come into its own as a valuable time-saver for short hauls.

After numerous experiments, regular scheduled autogiro air service is planned for the near future to carry mail from airports direct to downtown postoffice buildings. The first such commercial flight is to be made June 29 from Camden, N. J., to Philadelphia. The distance of six miles will be covered in three minutes, which is something that no mail truck could do along the traffic-crowded highways between those two points.

The venture is being pioneered by Eastern Airlines. If it proves successful and profitable the government will extend the service to other cities, where transportation from airport to business sections sometimes takes an hour or more. It is hinted that the load may be greatly increased, too, and passengers may be carried.

A French helicopter—similar to the autogiro—has been designed which is capable of carrying a load of sixteen tons and flying 310 miles an hour.

STUDENTS ABOLISH HEREDITY

We Americans may revise our Constitution from time to time, but Russian students are more courageous than that. They revise Mendel's laws of heredity. Biologists who have been teaching modern views of inherited qualities must be kicked out of the colleges, say the students in the Agricultural Academy at Moscow, because they disagree with Karl Marx's Socialist philosophy.

If these were American students, the whole business would be taken as a practical joke. But the Russian students are in dead earnest, and the editor of Socialist Agriculture seems to agree with them. Professor Vavilov, Nobel prize winner, and other eminent scientists, are having a hard fight to maintain their academic freedom and teach principles accepted by educated men almost everywhere.

THE NON-EXISTENT SCHOLAR

It's an old story for students to fake absence in a big class when teacher calls on them for the wrong question, but a couple of Detroit school boys have reversed the process.

They created a mysterious Elmo Dweep last fall, enrolled him in their classes, recited for him and even put him on the football team. With remarkable seriousness and consistency they carried him through the school year and almost got away with it.

When the coach began to question, his fellow students said low grades made him ineligible. When instructors wondered, he was said to be absent.

The hoax finally broke when in their enthusiasm the senior class, who had all become members in the project, elected him a leader in English.

Then something had to be done. It couldn't all end in the ignominy of Elmo's being the only senior to fail. So they glorified his end with a mock funeral, cremation and firecrackers on the athletic field, and, as a final touch, a plaque in his memory in the school corridor.

Creative imagination is a wonderful thing, which might often be put to more fruitful use.

The dangerous thing about the European situation is that so many Germans think Hitler will continue giving them victories and territory without fighting.

Two co-eds at Madison, Wis., who turned in a false alarm because they were bored with study, find a new interest in life, paying $55 fines.

The Baconians are at it again, insisting that Lord Bacon wrote Shakespeare. Our own notion is that Shakespeare wrote Bacon.

Another prophecy gone wrong: Where are the millions of motor trailers that people were going to be living in by this time?

"The American people need faith," says U. S. Judge Florence E. Allen. Also hope and charity.

Figuring on the chances of war and peace in Europe is like counting daisy petals.

Those Japs are so peppery and belligerent—they must have been eating raw meat. Or maybe unpolished rice will do that to them.

Advice to graduates looking for jobs: Take what you can get, and do your best in it while looking for something better.

 SIMPLE METHOD OF RELIEVING PAIN

When a pain occurs in the heel every time the heel strikes the floor or ground, it may often be due to a little spur of bone which has grown on the sole surface of the heel bone. This growth of bone is due to infection—rheumatic or other infection.

If the spur is not too long or too sharp, soft insoles or pads for the heel which have a hole into which the spur fits, usually gives relief. It was not until the discovery of the X-ray that the cause of so many painful heels was learned.

A former method of removing the spur was to make an opening at side of heel—not through the sole—and remove the spur with a chisel. This often set up an inflammation of the membrane covering the bone that was as painful as the spur itself.

A new method of giving relief to those suffering severe pain because of those bony spurs is described by Dr. James W. Barton, M.D., in the Journal of the American Medical Association, who says: "For the past five years in those cases of spurs on heel bone which were painful and which did not respond to the use of well-fitting supports, foot pads, and shoe correction, the following procedure was carried out. At the point of greatest tenderness an ordinary hypodermic needle was thrust through the skin of the sole of heel until it reached the heel bone. Then a few drops of 2 per cent procaine hydrochloride was injected, followed, in a few moments by 7½ drops of sodium morrhuate in 5 per cent benzyl alcohol. The relief from the symptoms was rapid and prolonged. Thirty-three patients received this treatment and all but one obtained relief. The relief obtained usually lasts for between two and three years, after which another injection may be given."

Remember, this treatment is for painful heel due to the bony spur; it is not for any other type of pain in heel.

When we think of the former methods of treating this heel spur—all kinds of pads and shoes, and removing spur with a chisel—this simple method, one hypodermic injection of the solution, seems almost too good to be true. But giving relief in thirty-two of thirty-three cases speaks for itself.

That being the case, a student should do as much of his reading as possible with his back to the window and the daylight coming over his shoulder.

Labor Board Changes Will Not Stop Investigation of the Board of Congressional Committees
 By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)

Washington, June 22.—Procedural changes announced by the National Labor Relations Board will not stem the tide of criticism nor stop the investigation of the board of congressional committees at either this or the next session of Congress.

What has been found objectionable by many employers is not the rules of the board, but the decisions. And these decisions have been based on the law, which is so broadly phrased as to permit discretionary judgments. To secure a change, therefore, the board would have to reverse its decisions, which would be stultifying to any quasi-judicial body.

It is the National Labor Relations Act which needs alterations so as to make it less susceptible to abuse by anybody, whether employer or employee. The decisions of the board have given the key to the necessity for certain amendments, such as these:

First, the law should not be construed to include as an unfair labor practice any action by the employer in communicating orally or in writing with his employees.

Second, an employer as well as any individual employee should have a right to cause the labor board to compel a vote of employees to determine whether they wish to be represented by a bargaining agent, and the majority votes shall then determine the issue.

Third, any employee or employee organization or employer which makes capricious or fraudulent use of its right to file unfair labor practice charges shall be subject to the same penalties for fraud and misrepresentation as are now contained in other federal statutes.

Fourth, elections shall be held on fixed dates each year or half-year so that organizers for unions may know in advance the time limits of their campaigns, just as is the case in political democracy.

Fifth, nothing in the law shall permit a ruling to be made that an employer who refuses to accede to the terms of a contract offered him is guilty of a "refusal to bargain collectively."

Sixth, nothing in the law shall permit the board to rule that an independent union is an unlawful bargaining agent if the independent organization, irrespective of the circumstances of its origin, is duly chosen, in a secret ballot in a subsequent election supervised by the board, to represent a majority of the employees of a given plant or business.

The foregoing amendments go to the heart of the collective bargaining problem. They will be objected to only by those who want for themselves an unfair advantage in collective bargaining and wish the labor board to perpetuate such disadvantages. The right of collective bargaining is so essential to labor and so important to the employer that any bias which is retained in the law itself will ultimately defeat collective bargaining.

It is no mere accident that the American Federation of Labor, largest and oldest of America's labor organizations, finds bias in the operation of the law. It is no mere accident either that even employers who have recognized unions and have made contracts with them feel that the present law tends to encourage rather than discourage hostility between management and employees.

There can be no doubt that the hesitancy of the labor board to agree to changes in the law has been due to its fear that the act itself would be sabotaged and collective bargaining destroyed. But there can be no doubt also that, in trying to prevent abuses, other abuses of far greater damage have been condoned.

Congress, which has the final responsibility for law-making, has been letting the labor problem drift because it is politically dangerous to handle it all public sentiment has crystallized more definitely. It will take considerable time for this to happen. But already the cry for a congressional investigation of the board indicates that the opponents of the act are not going to be satisfied with a few minor changes in the rules, when what is needed is some relatively minor but important changes in the law itself.

The amendment of the country with the prohibition amendment may be repeated with the National Labor Relations Act. The refusal to accept any amendments to the Wagner law at this session is a decision which the administration has taken that will be regretted when public sentiment rises up some day, as it inevitably will, and demands a completely new set-up in the handling of labor problems.

This will mean a revision to the familiar formula of a representative of labor, of management, and of the public. Such boards have usually meant divided decisions or deadlocks. The present labor board is experienced and can apply the statute better than any new board, but neither the new board rulings nor a change in personnel will lessen industrial strife so long as the basic act itself permits the widest discretionary power over employer-employee relations.

Know Your Law

By CARROLL E. MEALEY
 Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

(Editor's Note: Below are presented some questions and answers on the subject of the Vehicle and Traffic Law and rules of the road. Readers are invited to submit questions to Information Service, Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Albany, N. Y.)

Q. Does a discharge in bankruptcy of a judgment in a negligence action permit the restoration to the bankrupt on discharge, of his driver's license?

A. No. The law provides that licenses and registrations of persons failing to satisfy judgments in excess of $100 for motor vehicle accident damages must be suspended for three years unless the judgment is satisfied or discharged during that time—except by a discharge in bankruptcy. A discharge in bankruptcy does not change the status of the operator with regard to the suspension of his license.

Q. Do certain vehicles, under the law, always have the right of way?

A. Yes. The law gives the right of way to the following classes of vehicles, when in the performance of duty: United States mail, police, fire, patrol, bureau of buildings, emergency repair of public service corporations, ambulances, the military, and vehicle equipped with a gong or siren operated by a chief or assistant chief of a fire department, provided the gong or siren is being sounded.

Q. Because these vehicles have the right of way, when in the performance of duty, does that relieve them of all responsibility for any accident which may result?

A. By no means. The driver of any such vehicle, even though he has the right of way, must exercise reasonable caution. The driver is not relieved from liability for injuries resulting from the arbitrary or careless exercise of this right.

Q. Are processions given the right of way?

A. To some extent. No vehicle may drive through a procession except on order of a policeman. However, if the procession takes longer than five minutes to pass a given point, it shall be broken and traffic permitted to go through.

Mabel Harris and J. Mahoney of Belleville, N. J., spent the week-end with Mrs. Jennie Terpenning.

Radical Changes In Unemployment Insurance Laws

Radical changes in the formula for determining unemployment insurance benefit rights will be put into effect July 1, Ulster county wage earners were reminded today by Kenneth A. Simpson, manager of the Kingston office of the State Employment Service.

In the meantime, Mr. Simpson said, other changes in the Unemployment Insurance program have already taken effect, authorized by the omnibus amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Law which was signed June 3 by Governor Lehman.

Since June 3, he explained, benefit claimants have been permitted independent earnings of $3 or less a week. Previously, earnings of more than $2 a week automatically disqualified a benefit claimant.

Also effected immediately by the Governor's signature of the amendment was the elimination of the so-called "recalculation" procedure in benefit claims. Previously, if a claimant's base year earnings were found insufficient to entitle him to benefits, a second determination could be made on the basis of earnings subsequent to the base year. Likewise, if a claimant's base year earnings entitled him to fewer than 16 weekly payments, he was able, in some cases, to receive additional payments on the basis of later earnings, after he had exhausted his initial benefit rights.

"The amendment eliminates all such recalculation," Mr. Simpson said. "A claimant's benefit rights now depend on his earnings in the base year and on those earnings only. No extension of benefit rights by virtue of later earnings is possible."

Mr. Simpson explained that a claimant's benefit rights, once determined remain unchanged for the duration of the current benefit year. A new benefit year begins each April 1. During that period, unemployment insurance benefit rights depend on earnings in the base year which is the calendar year preceding the start of the benefit year. For example, for the benefit year which began April 1, 1939, the base year is the calendar year 1938.

The two principal changes in the law which will be effective July 1 are (1) in the required waiting period which must elapse, after application, before a claimant's compensable period begins, and (2) in the formula for determining the eligibility of unemployed workers who apply for benefits.

The change in the benefit formula for persons who file original claims on or after July 1 makes eligibility for benefits dependent on (1) the claimant's highest quarterly earnings in the base year and (2) the claimant's total earnings during the base year. These two amounts will determine whether the claimant is eligible and, if so, at which of the nine possible weekly benefit amounts he will be compensated. The benefit formula follows:

A	B	C
Wages Received in Highest Quarter of Base Year	Benefit Rate	Qualifying Wages in Base Year
$ 43.00-$171.99	$ 7	$175
172.00-194.99	8	200
195.00-217.99	9	225
218.00-240.99	10	250
241.00-263.99	11	275
264.00-286.99	12	300
287.00-309.99	13	325
310.00-332.99	14	350
333.00 and over	15	375

Leonard Economy

No, it's not a three or four cubic foot model such as you usually get for this price. No—it's not an "unknown" make.

It's actually a big SIX CUBIC FOOT, family-size model—and it's a genuine Leonard refrigerator at that! We hardly need to tell you this is the lowest price we ever placed on a Leonard of this size.

Beneath its snowy-white Permalin finish is a rugged, welded steel cabinet... built the way that only Leonard can build a cabinet.

You get ice cubes in record speed with the new stainless steel Zero-Freezer... powered by Leonard's sensational Glacier Sealed Unit that means extra cold-making power at lowest cost! Yet it's so quiet in operation you scarcely hear it!

Take advantage of the lowest price we've ever been able to offer on a six cubic foot Leonard. Because that's a name that has stood for VALUE and DEFENDABILITY for 58 years.

And don't wait! Come in. See the new Leonard—NOW! It's a beauty!

THE QUIET LEONARD

Uncle Sam's newest submarine, Searaven, similar in most respects to the ill-fated Squalus, which sank off the New Hampshire coast, slides down the ways at Portsmouth, N. H., while a crowd watches. Searaven was christened by Mrs. Cyrus W. Cole, wife of the Portsmouth navy yard commandant. Just as the launching took place, salvage workers out at sea succeeded in looping a thin wire beneath the Squalus as preparations for raising her began.

H. MacLaughlin Is 'Typical Father'

Harry MacLaughlin, 53-year-old Pleasantville, N. Y., insurance broker, is the most "typical New York father" according to the judges' decision in a program in honor of Father's Day at the Court of Peace at the World's Fair Sunday afternoon. He is the son of Mrs. Lilia Grant MacLaughlin of 135 Green street, this city, and was born in Rosendale.

The contest, to select the typical father in the metropolitan area, was sponsored by the New York Sun. Mr. MacLaughlin was selected from a list of 12 finalists among thousands who were nominated by their friends and families by means of short essays outlining the characteristics which might make them eligible for selection.

Fifteen women were the judges who gave their final decision. They were: Mrs. William Dick Spoorborg, chairman, American Mothers' Declaration; Gertrude Lane, editor, Woman's Home Companion; Dorothy Kenyon, Municipal Court justice; Magistrate Jeanette G. Brill; Mrs. J. Richard Powell, National Retail Dry Goods Association's choice as the typical customer; Theresa Helburn, Theatre Guild; Tallulah Bankhead, star of "The Little Foxes" and daughter of Speaker Bankhead; Mrs. Rudolph M. Bieder, president, New York City Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Preston Davis, Anna M. Rosenberg, regional director of the Social Security Board; Antoinette Perry, theatrical producer; Dorothy Shaver, vice-president, Lord & Taylor; Mrs. Dorothy Swenson, publicity director, Abraham & Strauss; Mme. Alma Clayburgh and Bernice Fitzgibbon, John Wanamaker, New York city.

Mr. MacLaughlin was nominated by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Werhans. He is the father of four children, Andrew, 19 years old; Mary Ann, 16; Carol, 14, and Harry, Jr., eight. They live at 35 Grand View avenue, Pleasantville. The announcement of Mr. Mac-

Laughlin's victory in the "typical father" contest came at the close of a lengthy program of entertainment featuring radio, stage and screen stars. Before the program closed, Mr. MacLaughlin had received an automobile and had been promised other articles.

Commencement at Ellenville High

Commencement exercises at the Ellenville High School will be held this year on Monday evening, June 26, at 8:30 o'clock, with a graduating class of about 90 pupils, which will be the largest class in the history of the school.

The commencement address will be delivered by the Rev. Robert W. Searle, D. D., who is general secretary of the Greater New York Federation of Churches. The Rev. Mr. Searle graduated from Rutgers University in 1915, and completed his doctorate there in 1929. After serving as master of Kingsley School in Essex Falls, N. J., he became assisting minister of the Fort Washington Collegiate Church and later minister of the First Reformed Church in Albany from 1923-1930. He was associate pastor of the Madison Avenue Church in New York city from 1930-1934, and since 1934 has been general secretary of the Greater New York Federation of Churches. He was delegate in 1937 to the Universal Christian Council, Oxford.

The Rev. Mr. Searle was a private in the United States ambulance service in 1917, and from 1917-1919 served during the World War as sergeant-major of the 303d Field Artillery. Dr. Searle is the author of "Contemporary Religious Thinking" (1935) and "City Shadows" (1938). He has traveled extensively and been many times requested to deliver addresses upon important occasions before both clerical and lay groups.

The commencement exercises will include special numbers by the high school orchestra and selections by the Girls' Glee Club. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. E. M. Shoemaker of Philadelphia. The valedictory will be delivered by Ashvith Gradyevsky, and the salutatory by Ruth A. George. Presentation of diplomas by William L. Douglas, president of the board of education, will conclude the exercises.

Baccalaureate services at 8 o'clock on Sunday evening in the high school auditorium, and the senior reception is on Tuesday evening. The public is invited to the baccalaureate services. All seats for the commencement exercises are reserved. Principal Wallace H. Strevel has announced that approximately 800 reserved tickets have been issued to the senior class. The graduates will attend dressed in traditional caps and gowns.

Frank Reber and Philip Ramsey were delegates from the Kingston Lions Club to the Seventeenth Annual Convention New York State District Twenty of Lions International held at Jamestown on June 15-16. Approximately 200 men and 85 women attended the convention. The consolidated report showed a gain of 10 clubs during the year, a net gain of 345 members.

It was voted next year to hold the convention at Saratoga Springs. Donald Snee of Poughkeepsie was elected district governor, and Frank Reber of the Kingston Club as state director. The new officers were inducted into office by the retiring International president, Frank Birch, in the presence of the incoming International president, Alex T. Wells.

MORGAN GOES BACK TO HARVARD

J. Pierpont Morgan (left), financier, attending the 50th anniversary celebration of the class of 1889 at Harvard, stops for a moment to chat with John H. Marshall, Harvard '29, driver of an old one-cylinder car used in the annual Class Day celebration. "J. P." seems about to thrust his hands in his pockets, campus fashion.

43 Youths Leave NYA Payroll

The National Youth Administration of Ulster county announced today that between the period of April 1, 1939 and June 17, 1939, forty-three of its youths left its payroll. This amounts to 24 per cent of the total number of the payroll as of the month of April when 183 were employed.

Of this 43 who have left NYA, 26 have secured private employment, while 14 have gone over into other government emergency work, such as the CCC and the WPA. Three are unemployed at the present time. The 26 who have secured private employment represent 68 per cent who have gone into work other than emergency government work. This compares favorably with the statewide total which shows, that since the initiation of the National Youth Administration Work Projects in New York state three and a half years ago, 18,000, or over 50 per cent, young people employed have gone into private employment. Ulster county, therefore, shows a relatively higher percentage of its youth going into private employment than is found in the state as a whole.

During the month of May nearly 500 young men and women left the National Youth Administration Projects to enter private employment in the various sectors of the state. This makes it possible for the NYA to have room for many more youth from May 1 waiting list of 5,478 young people, needy, out of school and for the most part inexperienced.

This May turnover into private employment exceeds that of April by 150 and reflects the opening of seasonal employment upstate, 161 of the young people securing work in industry, 44 in agriculture. In the Kingston area 23 have gone into industry, or three into the agricultural field.

A great number of the young people employed on the NYA projects have secured work through personal application, systematic application for jobs being a part of the realistic guidance given them during their employment on NYA.

Plumb Unlucky

Milwaukee—Things happened rapidly to Janitor Buford Wright after he tightened his plumber's wrench on a leaking water pipe in a third floor apartment. The wrench slipped and struck his chest. The blow knocked him through an open door and down a flight of stairs. He was treated for a brain concussion and bruises.

When a Wisconsin hunter took a pot shot at a robin perched on a telephone wire, he missed the bird and hit the wire. However, the wire parted and recoiled with such force that it killed the bird.

The War Against "Screwdrivers"

The war against "screwdrivers" yesterday ended in a victory for Chief J. Allan Wood and the Kingston Police Department. "Screwdriving," the scourge of economy-minded motorists, has been banished from the streets of Kingston—for good, Chief Wood hopes.

Features of the war against "screwdrivers" were a unique puppet show and a courtesy crusader car which patrolled the most heavily-travelled streets yesterday pointing out the necessity for good motoring manners as a means of reducing traffic congestion.

The courtesy crusader car left police headquarters shortly after 11 a. m. with Officer George P. Bowers in command. George I. Hughes, well known safety and traffic expert, acted as the crusader announcer, and pointed out, over the car's loud speaker system, that double parking, trying to beat traffic lights, making turns from the wrong lane and other "traffic busters" are responsible for at least 25 per cent of the traffic congestion on heavily-travelled thoroughfares.

At noon, Officer Clarence Brophy took charge of the crusader car. Pedestrian safety, including jaywalking, was also covered by the announcer in his talks.

The puppet show, which, like the courtesy crusader car, was put at the disposal of the Kingston

Police Department by the local dealers of the Shell Oil Company, Incorporated, played to an estimated audience of 2,500 persons during its brief stay here. Performances of the puppet show were given on Wall street, near John street, at the high school, and on Broadway near Ferry street.

Star of the puppet show, judged by audience reactions, was Lucille, a nifty brunette with large brown eyes and shapely legs. Her great dramatic moment came when she nobly spurned the efforts of Screwdriver Oscar to talk her into taking a ride with him. Fortunately it was, too, for Oscar was indulging in some plain and fancy "screwdriving," and nearly came to a disastrous end when he wrecked his car.

Wilbur, a wide-model "screwdriver," was driving gaily down the middle of the road, as it is the custom of wide-model "screwdrivers," until Tommy, a tough truck driver, came up behind him and tried to get by. Unable to pass Wilbur, Tommy stopped him and told him in no uncertain terms that taking his share of the road out of the middle of the road was "screwdriving."

Oscar, Wilbur and a number of other "screwdrivers" demonstrated what should not be done while driving, and held up traffic on the puppet stage until a puppet policeman came in and got the traffic snarls straightened out. Then traffic moved along at a good pace.

Object of the war against "screwdrivers" and the Share-the-Road Club is to persuade motorists to use the same good manners while driving that they used while entertaining guests in their homes or at their places of business. Leading traffic authorities claim that at least 25 per cent of the traffic congestion on the streets and highways of the nation can be relieved if all drivers will improve their motoring manners.

Sharp's Garden Bears Early Tomato Crop

Superintendent Lewis S. Sharp of the city hall was all smiles today. He was smiling because the other amateur gardeners of the city hall group were unable to compete with him in the raising of tomatoes.

Superintendent Sharp's hobby is gardening and several weeks ago he set out his tomato plants. Today the plants are bearing tomatoes that are almost ready to pick. "Just a few more days of sunny, warm weather, and I'll bring over some ripe tomatoes to the city hall just to show you how to raise them," he informed his fellow gardeners.

Valley's Firemen Elect Feltner as Association Head

Three Local Hose Companies Participate in Parade; Convention to Haverstraw in '40

George H. Feltner of Stuyvesant Falls was elected president, and Haverstraw was selected as the place for holding the 1940 convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, which was brought to a colorful close this afternoon with the annual firemen's parade in Catskill.

Kingston was represented in the parade by Excelsior, Cordts and Werner Hose Companies, while several of the county volunteer fire departments also participated in the big parade which passed through the village streets this afternoon.

Other officers elected at Wednesday's session of the valley firemen were:

First vice president, Charles M. Fales of Haverstraw.

Second vice president, Fred M. Noll of Niskayuna.

Secretary, Chris W. Noll of Poughkeepsie.

Treasurer, William A. Coyle of Yonkers.

In Haverstraw and the invitation was unanimously accepted.

There was a long and spirited debate on a resolution presented that called for a term of three years for a fire chief instead of the usual one year. The resolution was defeated by a large majority.

Another recommendation that caused debate was the one recommending that conventions be held in the future so that the parade would be staged on a Saturday afternoon whenever possible. It was adopted after several delegates had spoken for and against it.

The convention adopted unanimously a recommendation that efforts be made to have an auditorium built at the Firemen's Home in Hudson.

Kingston's streets were made more colorful this morning as various fire departments from the Hudson valley passed through on the way to Catskill to participate in the annual parade that climaxed the golden anniversary convention of the association.

The streets of Catskill were thronged this afternoon by thousands who had gathered to witness the big parade, one of the largest held by the valley firemen in some years.

Natural Pearls Cannot Be Duplicated by Man

Dr. A. E. Alexander of the Mellon Institute has been studying pearls chemically and physically only to reach the conclusion that nature's product has not yet been exactly duplicated by man. Cultured or artificial pearls, fine as they are, bear no more relation to nature's than gold-filled jewelry bears to the solid gold article.

As nearly everybody now knows, a real pearl forms in an oyster around a grain of sand. Layer on layer of "nacre" is deposited. The color is always that of the shell lining.

Chemical analysis shows that a pearl is almost all calcium carbonate, which is formed around a delicate, lacy framework of organic matter (concholin) much as enamel is formed around the denture of teeth. The difference between natural and cultured or artificial pearls seems to be not so much chemical as physical.

Dr. Alexander bases his conclusion that natural pearls have not yet been successfully duplicated on some fairly new tests. One of these was devised by Chulovsky and Perlin. They found that light, totally reflected within the natural pearl, produces a characteristic flash. There is no such flash within the cultured pearl.

Magnetic tests have been devised by Richard Nacken. These also differentiate between natural and artificial and cultured pearls. Simplest and oldest of all scientific tests is that for specific gravity. Cultured pearls have a specific gravity of 2.68, natural pearls of 2.65. The test has its limitations.

Commonest of all tests is that of the X-ray. A natural pearl will scatter X-rays uniformly and form a 6 or a 12 fold "spot" pattern, which is really that of aragonite in the pearl. A cultured pearl gives a mottled cross or something that suggests it.

Taj Mahal Is Tomb

The Taj Mahal, one of the most beautiful buildings in the world, was built by the Mogul Emperor Shah Jehan at Agra, near Delhi, India, as a tomb for his favorite wife. To build it a vast army of Hindu workmen labored for 22 years, and with its neighboring palace and mosque, the cost is reckoned to have been between $20,000,000 and $50,000,000. It is of white marble, 130 feet long and wide, and nearly 200 feet high to the top of the huge dome, which surmounts the eight-sided building. This is supported on each side by two slender minarets and is surrounded by Persian gardens. The walls of the interior are covered with floral designs, loved by the Persians, picked out in onyx, jasper, carnelian and other semi-precious stones.

Two full-fledged farms are exhibits at the New York World's Fair. One features complete electrical operation, the other features rubber tires on all the farm machinery.

MANHATTAN STYLE CLAM CHOWDER

ONE HOT DISH WITH EVERY MEAL

One swallow doesn't make a summer; but one hot day brings an opportunity to apply the above maxim—for it should be applied every day throughout the year, summer or winter, cold or hot. And it should not only be applied by the homemaker. It should be impressed upon each member of the family.

The homemaker's first thought for the hot dish for summer menus may well be soup. Some homemakers will prefer to make their own. If you're one of these, be sure to take a look through the soup section of your recipe file, for you'll want to brush up on recipes now and then. But if you're in a hurry and want to win freedom from the kitchen, then by all means serve canned soups. The latest list of canned soups I have seen shows some 61 different varieties. So you see you could serve a different kind of soup every day for two months with no greater effort than the opening of a can and heating the contents. When serving condensed soups, add milk instead of water and you'll be delighted with the rich creamy result. And remember, evaporated milk may always be substituted for fresh milk.

When you serve soup, serve crackers or croutons or pretzels or popcorn, or something chewy to go with it. These, too, may be selected in wide variety.

MANHATTAN STYLE CLAM CHOWDER

To the contents of one can of Manhattan Style Clam Chowder, add an equal amount of hot water, heat to boiling point and serve. A pleasing variation is the addition of one can of tomato soup instead of hot water.

LIMA BEAN SALAD

2 cups canned or cooked lima beans, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, 1 onion, minced, 1 pimiento, minced, 1 cup tomato mayonnaise, plain or shredded lettuce.

Drain liquid from beans and chill thoroughly. Blend with remaining ingredients, chill all thoroughly and pile high in a dish with a border of plain or shredded lettuce.

TOMATO MAYONNAISE*

1½ cups mayonnaise, ½ cup tomato ketchup, ½ teaspoon thick seasoning sauce.

Combine all ingredients and mix.

MIX THEM OR MATCH THEM?

Fashion experts tell us that we may "mix 'em or match 'em" this year. They're talking about suits of course. And we women have been having grand times getting a gay plaid jacket to go with our old tweed skirt, or vice versa. Glad we are that it's the style for such a fad is a real budget saver.

But when I speak of matching them or mixing them, I'm referring to vegetables in general and a vegetable plate in particular. And, of course, we'll mix them! To match a vegetable plate is to make a sad mistake. The vegetables that match in color look most unappetizing on the plate and have a tendency to lack in flavor appeal at the same time.

The plate illustrated is composed of golden French fried potatoes, pure white cauliflower, bright red tomatoes, broiled and seasoned with butter, and golden kernels of corn. Place a sprig of parsley beside the tomato, season the vegetables judiciously with salt, pepper, butter or margarine and paprika and you've a vegetable plate comprising all the elements necessary for flavor and savor.

Don't overcook the vegetables. Cook the cauliflower in milk and it will retain its whiteness. Fry the potatoes in thin strips in triple-creamed or vegetable shortening or lard or frying fat. Canned shoe-string potatoes may be used and these only require heating before serving. Whole kernel corn, purchased in cans, will be used by many homemakers although fresh corn or frosted corn may be used. Other vegetables which might be selected for the "mix 'em" plate are: carrots, beets, spinach, cabbage, peas, butter beans, lima beans, broccoli, etc. Consider first the color, then the flavor, if you want your vegetable plates to win favor!

Chapter 14

Paradise Of The Penny

DIFFENDERFER'S Penny Arcade offers its patrons a wide variety of amusements at, as the name implies, small cost. Wherefore Mr. William Steele, jostling his way through the crowded lobby, found himself mingling freely with the hot polio. But he pushed on doggedly, and entered the tawdry tobacco-smoking establishment.

It is supposed that had William been apprised earlier of the sartorial influences prevailing in this paradise of the penny, he would have accomplished its invasion in more suitable habiliments. As it was, he was attired in a perfectly cut linen suit, brown tie and white polka dots and a Panama hat with a racy-colored band. He was, however, distinctive here would be to understate grossly. He was, as the poem has it, last, loneliest, loveliest, exquisite, apart. And, being such, he excited comment, much of it unfavorable.

But though there was a suspicion of veiled animosity in the air, no one seemed to care to manifest his disapproval of William in a businesslike way. In the days of his collegiate magnificence Mr. Steele had been the mainstay of the Stanford eleven's attack. Upon one occasion, after a particularly neat bit of attacking, he had been alluded to by a phrase-slinging newspaper scribe as the "Torrid Terror of the Rose Bowl." Now, despite his life of ease and luxury, he still sported shoulders as broad as a Torrid Terror of the Rose Bowl. And tough egg of the first part respects such shoulders in tough egg of the second part, even though tough egg of the second part be camouflaged by a white linen suit. As a consequence, the progress of William through Diffenderfer's Penny Arcade was impeded physically by none.

The man in charge of the shooting-gallery, however, accosted him hospitably. He was an attractive personality with a nose like a shark-hook.

"Try yer luck wid da rifles, buddy," he suggested.

William waved him aside. But the shooting-gallery magnate didn't stay aside.

"Aw, come on," he wheedled.

"Business is business," said the shooting-gallery man.

The shooting-gallery man appeared to be a disciple of Joe Penner's.

"Doncha wanna shoot a duck?" he inquired, almost reprovingly.

William said that no, he did not want to shoot a duck. He was on the point of plunging deeper into the jungle of Diffenderfer's when it occurred to him that the shooting-gallery man might be of service.

He paused, therefore, and drew fifty cents from his pocket.

"Listen," he said, "I don't want to shoot. But here's a half a buck. It's yours if you'll take me to the East Brothers. I'm told they work here."

The shooting-gallery man scratched his head, a popular pastime at Diffenderfer's.

"Don't know 'em," he said at last, eyeing the fifty cents wolfishly.

"Hell," Bill said.

"Sure dey work here?" asked the shooting-gallery man.

"A fellow said they did," replied Bill. "Horace and Morris East."

The sinister countenance of the shooting-gallery man cleared. He reached a grimy paw for the fifty cents.

"Well, now why didn't ya say ya was lookin' fer Horace and Morris in de foist place?" he said aggressively.

"Sure, I know dem guys. C'mon, I'll take ya."

"Where?" said Bill mystified.

Phantasmagoria

THE shooting-gallery man pointed to a platform in the rear of Diffenderfer's. William, following his finger, started.

Upon the platform was the oddest collection of humanity that he had ever seen. At first glance it seemed a confused phantasmagoria such as might appear to a mind reduced by a couple of dozen champagne cocktails. It finally resolved itself, however, into a lady of Himalayan proportions; another lady whose countenance, hands, arms and shoulders were undeniably lilac-colored; a gentleman who either was, or cleverly contrived to give the impression of being, a skeleton sitting on a straight-backed chair; an orang-outang; a lean cadaverous individual with side whiskers who was, conservatively speaking, ten feet tall; a girl of debilitate age wreathed in snakes; what appeared to be a man with two heads and two bodies; and a family of mid-gets. Gazing upon this likely-looking assemblage William's jaw dropped and he permitted himself the luxury of a gasp.

But had he been accustomed to life backstage at Diffenderfer's, he would have eschewed such rudeness. For then he would have known the facts. The lady who must have required the services of a derrick in order to get out of bed was simply Mrs. Gussie Zilch, alias Madame Abdullah. The fattest woman in the World, weight 660 lbs. The lilac-colored siren would have been to him just Bertie Walsh, known professionally as The Light Lavender Lady From The Limpopo. The ghoulish individual vacationing apparently from the potter's field was none other than Mr. Jephason, The Absolutely and Positively Only Living Skeleton. The orang-outang was not an orang-outang at all but merely, in private life, a Mr. Moss, the father of five children none of whom exhibited any of the more sinister simian proclivities. Mr. Moss, during his working hours, was enticingly billed as The Missing Link. Further, William would have known that the side-whiskered individual, besides being The Tallest Man On Earth, was a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia; that the reptile-wrapped debutante answered to the name of Pearl and the wrapping was just her favorite python, Anastasia; that the gentleman with two heads and two bodies was not a gentleman, but two gentlemen, Messrs. Horace and Morris East of Seventh Avenue; that the midgets were gentle, God-fearing people despite a wide experience of circuses, sideshows and vaudeville. But William, a Philistine, knew not these things. He could only gaze at the assortment, convinced, that something in the nature of decay was going on in Denmark.

The shooting-gallery man had mistaken his gasp of surprise for an expression of apprehension.

"C'mon," said the shooting-gallery man, nudging his elbow. "Dey won't bite, ya. Dere nuttin' but freaks."

"You're telling me?" said William. He suffered himself to be propelled forward.

During his collaboration with the shooting-gallery man a discussion had been in progress on the raised platform. The subject of this discussion was William. At the moment of his entry into Diffenderfer's, he had been spotted by the freaks as a brilliant butterfly who chooses to cast in his lot with a regiment of black beetles must expect to be spotted by all and sundry. And a curiosity concerning his identity had been established at once.

Freak Conversation

THE Light Lavender Lady From The Limpopo voiced the first opinion.

"I believe," she said to the Absolutely and Positively Only Living Skeleton, "that the gentleman who just came in is probably James J. Walker, a former Mayor of New York City. If you read the papers, Mr. Jephason, you will know that Mr. Walker has returned to America."

"I always read the papers," intoned the Absolutely and Positively Only Living Skeleton, monotonously.

"Well then?" said the Light Lavender Lady From The Limpopo, as if this proved her point.

Mr. Moss, the orang-outang, spoke without being asked to.

"My theory is," said Mr. Moss, "that he's a detective."

"Tee-hee," giggled Pearl, the snake-charmer. She was a light-hearted girl always ready to giggle. She now leaned forward to get a better look at William and this movement brought a section of the python, Anastasia, in close contact with The Tallest Man On Earth.

The Tallest Man On Earth performed a movement such as the Eiffel Tower might perform if someone startled it.

"There you go!" ejaculated The Tallest Man On Earth. "How many times do I have to tell you never to shove that brute directly in my face?"

"Oh, you make me sick," Anastasia wouldn't hurt a fly. She patted the serpent's head lovingly.

The reptile leered with pleasure. "It gets my nerves wrought up," went on The Tallest Man On Earth, as if Pearl had not spoken. "And when my nerves are wrought up I suffer greatly from my dyspepsia. I know I'm going to have a nervous breakdown if it goes on much longer. I mean, this having to practically live with a snake thirty feet long."

"Thirty-two," corrected Pearl.

The Light Lavender Lady From The Limpopo waved her hand as at a matter of no importance.

"Before we were so rudely interrupted," she said, looking reprovingly at The Tallest Man On Earth. "Mr. Jephason, Mr. Moss and myself were discussing the identity of that gentleman in the white linen suit. Mr. Moss has just given us his opinion that he's a detective."

One of the heads of the East Brothers, the one belonging to Morris, answered: "Of course not. Detectives don't dress that way."

"Be quiet, Morris!" said the head belonging to Horace.

"See that?" said Morris East to the open forum. "Every time I open my mouth he tells me to be quiet. Why can't I speak? I've got a right to speak, haven't I?"

"I said be quiet, Morris," said Horace, sternly.

At this point William and the shooting-gallery tycoon pushed their way through a little knot of curious customers who were staring at the freaks and gained the edge of the platform. The shooting-gallery tycoon beckoned with imperious finger.

"Hey, you, Horace an' Morris," he ordered loudly, "c'monere a minnit. Dey's a guy here astin' fer ya."

Answering an advertisement in a magazine which promised to supply an up-to-date coat-hanger and a cigarette lighter for a dime, a local citizen, who begged that his name be left unmentioned, sent away his ten cents.

By return mail, he received a neat little packet. Inside, wrapped up in tissue paper, he found a two-inch nail and a match.

Mike was smoking in the waiting room of a railway station. A porter said to him, "Don't you see that notice on the wall: 'No Smoking Allowed'?"

"Yes, I do," answered Mike, "but how can I keep all the rules? There's another sign on the wall, 'Wear Gossard Corsets.'"

One of the headlines of the year appeared in February when the Farm Journal took over the Farmer's Wife. Another farm paper. The announcement was headed, "The Farmer takes a Wife."

A farmer complained of being unable to sleep at night. Wife--If you can't sleep, count sheep.

Farmer--I did that last night. I counted 10,000 sheep and put them in cars and sent 'em to market. By the time I'd figured my losses it was time to get up and milk.

The best way to influence a man is to tell him he can't be influenced.

Applicant--Well, I just licked the other eleven applicants outside your door.

The peculiar thing about some Rhodes scholars is that they lose their Indiana accent after six months' residence in England, whereas when they return home, their Oxford accent clings to them for the rest of their lives.

A woman rushed wildly into the station. Her train was pulling in and she wanted two tickets to Duluth. She ran up to the window and very much out of breath, said: "Toodle do looth."

The agent looked at her and said: "Tra la la."

A bishop was invited to dinner. During the meal he was astonished to hear the little daughter of the house state that a person must be brave to go to church these days.

Bares Secrets Of Auctioneers

Tricks of Profession Told
By One Who Trains
Men for Work.

DECATUR, IND.—If you have an idea auctioneering technique, including the singsong tum-dee-da you hear on the radio comes naturally, listen to Fred Reppert. "Auctioneers," Reppert said sternly, "are made—not born."

A veteran at the block who has seen auctioneers come and go for years, he operates a school here for this specialized type of work. Since 1921 Reppert has been turning out about 100 trained auctioneers a year from his school. He started the school when he grew tired of answering letters from hopeful men who wanted to join the profession.

No textbooks are used. The students listen to lectures throughout the days of the three-week course, then each night for the last 14 days conduct actual auctions themselves. Actual Practice Provided.

In the summer semester the students meet on the courthouse lawn and do their hawking; in the winter course they do their crying in an auction house. Instructors attend all sales conducted by the fledglings and point out their mistakes and offer suggestions in class the following day.

Reppert revealed several trade secrets.

He said auctioneers use a singsong chant merely to make life more pleasant for buyers who must stand in front of them all day long. "They use a low tone of voice, making it as musical and pleasing to the ears as possible, and cut out every unnecessary movement of the lips to gain speed," he said.

If you haven't been able to understand the hubbub of sounds some auctioneers use it may be because they make up part of their language.

Energy Saved on Words.

"Wata" is used to mean a quarter, "ha" a half-dollar and "the" for three-quarters. These are employed because they can be said faster and require less energy. Not all auctioneers use the singsong technique or these peculiar words, however.

In real-estate sales, he said, an auctioneer talks slower and in a normal tone of voice, inasmuch as he has only one article to sell and all day to do it in.

Registered live stock is also sold slower to permit the auctioneer to build up each animal's show records, pedigree, merits and production.

Fast technique is used for sales of feeder and fat cattle, market horses, and tobacco.

"Speed is essential in these classes," Reppert said, "because the auctioneer has large numbers to sell and buyers usually start bidding within a small margin of their limit."

Reppert claims many world records as an auctioneer. Among them are a $47,500 price for the Belgian stallion Farrier owned by William Cronover of Hudson, Iowa, and $31,000 for the sale of Ardmore, a one-time world's champion Hereford bull.

Canadian Pastor Gives

Four Rules for Kissing

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Girlhood's age-old problem, "to kiss or not to kiss," has resulted in a set of rules laid down by Reverend A. E. Cooke, pastor of St. John's United church, to the teens in his congregation.

1. Don't be too liberal with your affections. Girls "shouldn't make their lips 'free lunch counters' for men."

2. Boys should remember they are the natural protectors of women.

3. Don't squander your emotional resources. Flippant flappers may entertain men for a while, but quiet, modest women are usually chosen for wives.

4. Don't play with fire. "Kissing is a natural impulse for all red-blooded young people," Reverend Cooke pointed out, "but that doesn't make it right."

"Civilization is based on control of natural impulses."

Cleaning Instructions

To clean pearls, first rub them with a cloth dipped in alcohol diluted with warm (not hot) water, or in a weak solution of soap and water, then dip another cloth in clean water and rub the pearls until they are dry. Be careful not to leave them wet. Either salt, rice, pearl-powder, or some exceedingly soft substance may aid in cleaning them, but no abrasive such as ground pumice, electro-silicon, or any powder that is sold as a polishing powder, should be used.

Thiell Admits He Drove Fire Truck

condition permitted. Until Thiell has recovered sufficiently to stand the shock he is not being told by the officials that a criminal charge is to be made against him.

Others Galt
All of the other victims of the crash are today reported as in good condition and James Ecker-son is expected to leave the hospital soon. He was allowed to sit up on Wednesday.

It was at the top of the Hepworth hill where Chief Thiell says he first recalls experiencing difficulty with the truck, that State Trooper William Martin first observed the fire truck proceeding north with its siren sounding.

The Trooper was on traffic duty there and was prepared to escort the truck when the accident happened. It was the belief of the Trooper that the engine was responding to an alarm.

One theory being advanced is that when the driver of the vehicle saw the State Trooper along the road he proceeded to give his "guests" a thrill as a termination of their afternoon's social activities by speeding up and passing traffic on a curve, with the result that the truck went out of control.

Meanwhile District Attorney Cleon B. Murray has received the report of the autopsy performed upon the body of Clarence Alsford, second victim of the crash.

Alsford died as a result of a "fracture at the base of the skull and meningeal hemorrhage and brain laceration." This opinion was given by Assistant Medical Examiner H. P. Carpenter of Dutchess county who was one of the attendants at the autopsy performed at Vassar Hospital after the death of Alsford.

78 Liens Filed
Approximately 78 liens were filed against the persons and properties in Ulster county and in about 30 cases satisfactions have been filed. These liens were filed about a year ago and the satisfactions were entered this week in the county clerk's office, being filed through the local Internal Revenue office.

Commissioner Hickey at Albany stated that the department could not reveal the amount which any individual had paid or which individual had been assessed. Satisfactions are filed by the department in all cases where the lien was successful and money collected and also in the cases where the lien was defeated and no money collected. None of the liens were against Father Divine, since he has no property locally in his own name.

Trading Again at Reduced Volume

Trading continued at reduced volume Wednesday, with a total of 470,000 shares dealt in and changes were negligible. Closing prices, which were at the best levels of the day, showed industrial shares 0.04 point, to 137.61 in the Dow-Jones averages; rails and utilities were off about the same, the former losing 0.02 point, to 27.66 and utilities declining 0.04 point, to 24.08.

Domestic news continued satisfactory, but the unsettledness of foreign affairs inclined traders to remain cautious. Abroad news from the Far East caused the American Bourse to go lower in restricted trading and the London market was under a restraint although the market closed steady with trading inactive.

In the commodity markets a drop in grain caused the Dow-Jones index to show a loss to the lowest point for the movement. Chicago wheat prices followed a slump in the Winnipeg market and futures closed as much as 1½ cents a bushel. On favorable news from Washington, cotton futures rose all the new crop months, reaching new high levels, closing 11 to 14 points above Tuesday's close. Sugar firm, world contracts gaining two to four points and domestic one to three points. Silk was firmer.

The first major reduction of stocks of auto dealers for the current model year was shown in May when stocks of new cars and trucks were estimated at 428,500 on May 31, a decline of 52,100 from the month. Due to increased sales and lower output, electric output throughout the U. S. for the week ended June 17 showed a rise of 13.7 per cent over the 1938 week.

Damage to property and crops in Texas areas is placed at over $1,000,000 from floods as rainfall in the 24 hours to eight a. m. yesterday averaged from two to ten inches. The center of damage was on the Colorado river in west central Texas.

Public Service of New Jersey, for 12 months ended May 31, shows net income of $24,483,562, equivalent after preferred dividends to $22,819,715, or $2.35 on common in preceding year.

Commonwealth & Southern shows net of $14,144,128 for 12 months ended May 31. Equal after dividend requirements on preferred, on which there is an accumulation of unpaid dividends, of 15 cents a share on 3,673,328 shares of common. Compares with net income of $12,794,162, or 11 cents on common in previous 12 months.

Collins & Aikman had loss of $34,633 for the first quarter of their fiscal year, vs. loss of $403,843 in the quarter ended May 28, 1938.

Dividend declarations included: H. L. Green Co., quarterly of 40 cents; John Morrell & Co. 50 cents; quarterly of 68¢ by U. S. Hoffman Machinery Corp.; Alpha Portland Cement, 25 cents; Emerson Drug Co., quarterly of 30 cents on common A and B; National Aviation Corp., 25 cents. Northern Pacific had May loss of around $700,000 vs. loss year ago of $1,264,941.

GOP Leaders Defy Governor

Sales Tax Action
Meanwhile, leaders agreed in validation of the "lump sum" budget opened the door to possible action on a sales tax for relief financing and restoration of at least part of the $25,000,000 cuts in the $415,000,000 spending program.

But the scope of their work, they said, is "up to the governor." The state constitution, they pointed out, provides "at extraordinary sessions no subject shall be acted upon, except such as the governor may recommend for consideration."

Lehman, who frequently protested the Legislature's $10,000,000 slash in state aid for education and curtailment of funds for other "necessary" functions of state government, also may recommend the special session to reconsider these cuts, party chiefs said.

Assemblyman Abbott Low Moffat, chairman of the ways and means committee and chief author of the Republican $390,000,000 "economy" budget, insisted "every effort will be made" to attain the cuts in the governor's appropriation program and "make other reductions if possible."

Likelihood of action on the controversial sales tax for financing local relief was seen by other leaders providing the governor permits consideration of new levies to bring the budget into balance.

Mayor Roland B. Marvin of Syracuse, an upstate Republican leader and strong advocate of the sales impost to solve the local relief problem, already has urged party legislators to study the proposal as a special session possibility.

Although a bill providing for a two per cent state-wide sales tax was introduced before adjournment of the Legislature May 20, opposition of more than a score of Republican legislators caused leaders to refrain from testing the measure by a vote.

Organizations which objected to the G. O. P. budget cuts also opened a campaign to win legislative reconsideration of various items.

No Crossing Hearing To Be Held Friday

There will be no grade crossing elimination hearing in the Ulster county court house, Friday, the meeting having been postponed.

Attorney John M. Cashin, corporation counsel for Kingston, said today that the date for the hearing will be announced as soon as the new time is made definite.

Today's hearing was adjourned to give the city ample time to prepare complete plans with a full estimate on the cost of eliminating its railroad crossings.

Excelsior Hose Off for Catskill

Excelsior Hose Company and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, headed by the Excelsior Hose Company band, made a short parade this morning from the engine house to Academy Park where they boarded busses for Catskill to participate in the annual parade.

There were over 30 members of the auxiliary in line and the company was well represented.

Undergoes New Operation

County Judge Frederick G. Traver, who was operated upon at Kingston Hospital Monday when a preparatory operation was performed, underwent the second operation this morning. His condition was reported as good following the operation and later in the day he had recovered sufficiently to call for the morning papers to read. The recovery was performed by Dr. Joseph Jacobson.

to lease equipment to the carriers, with the government retaining title to it. He proposed a $500,000,000 ceiling and the use of $100,000,000 in 1940.

Rural Electrification
Fourth, under the agriculture department, rural electrification would be expanded to reach at least 1,250,000 rural families, about 5,000,000 people, not now receiving electricity and not likely to in the near future. A seven years program with a $460,000,000 ceiling was suggested with an outlay of only $20,000,000 in 1940.

Fifth, under the farm security administration, expansion of the purchase of farms for tenant farmers with a $500,000,000 limit and loans of $250,000,000 going out in 1940.

Sixth, foreign loans to promote American foreign trade were put down for $500,000,000 for two years with $200,000,000 going out in 1940.

Mr. Roosevelt explained proceeds of these loans would be spent in the United States and would be used for development and reconstruction purposes in the foreign country.

The President's letter to Byrnes was in reply to one in which the senator had asked the President's opinion on earmarking of the House of $125,000,000 of relief funds for the Public Works Administration.

Byrnes Asks Advice

Byrnes requested the President to advise him what effect this transfer of money from WPA to PWA would have upon employment.

With reference to the earmarking of the $125,000,000, the President said in his letter:

"I am opposed to this provision. It simply means that 165,000 men who are badly in need of work will have to be dropped from the Works Progress Administration rolls; men who in the great majority of cases are the sole support of families whose subsistence depends on this slender income."

Announcement of the new program climaxed several weeks of study by government experts on what could be done to stimulate business and employment. Yesterday Secretary Ickes advocated that the relief bill, pending before the Senate appropriations committee, be amended to provide $500,000,000 for public works under the PWA.

National Safety Council Drive

With the slogan "Be Alive on the Fifth" the National Safety Council is again conducting a campaign to cut down the annual Fourth of July accident toll and, in effect, the toll of the entire summer vacation period. This total is fed, of course, by the usual holiday traffic jam.

"If history repeats itself," said the council, "the Fourth of July this year will bring a national catastrophe to the country. Thousands will be killed and injured. Children will be maimed for life."

"Why?" Because each year America chooses Independence Day to stage a jamboree of carelessness. On the highways, in the homes, on the beach and picnic grounds men, women and children are killed off by the score, even as they celebrate.

Traffic crashes, drownings and fireworks are the chief instruments of death on this occasion. Last July, the council said, 8,720 Americans were killed as many as died in the Revolutionary War.

SUMMER COOLERS

Cooling, refreshing beverages are a boon to the homemaker who must entertain unexpected afternoon callers. The tall clinking glasses and dainty filled sandwiches provide the guests with something to talk about—and the hostess, too. There's an opportunity to exchange ideas, recipes, experiences. But every homemaker likes to be first with the new ideas, and that's part of our job—to give you new thoughts for summer coolers.

First of all, do use powdered sugar, sirup or honey for sweetening iced drinks. It blends so much better and assures you of a beverage that is uniformly sweetened throughout. If you wish to use canned fruit juices, do combine with fresh fruits, if possible. This may be but a lemon ring garnish or a fresh cherry or berry "topper" or even a sprig of mint will do. If you have glass sipers, do use them—or substitute the colorful and attractive cellophane straws. For "short" drinks a stick of cinnamon makes a flavorful sipper and a novel one as well. Colorful beverages whet the appetite. Why not use green food coloring with mint-flavored drinks? Red coloring with cherry or berry flavored drinks? Yellow coloring with pineapple or grapefruit beverages? And "pink" lemonade is a treat any day! Now for the recipes for these prepared beverages and beverage powders and sirups. A stock on the pantry shelf is insurance for the day unexpected guests arrive.

LEMONADE

1 lemon, 1 to 3 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1 cup cold water and crushed ice. Add lemon juice to water, chill and sweeten to taste.

Honey Lemonade: Use honey instead of sugar for sweetening.

HINTS

When defrosting the refrigerator, it takes but a minute to clean the shelves and interior of a good grade non-abrasive household cleanser is used. Wipe with a clean, wet cloth and replace foods as soon as defrosting is completed.

A cracked egg may be boiled in the shell if you first wrap the egg tightly in heavy waxed paper, twisting the paper to keep it on the egg. Then boil in the usual manner.

Cleaning white summer shoes is no problem if you use a good white shoe cleaner. Always clean after each wearing. Mesh or perforated shoes should be stuffed with tissue paper or an old cloth.

Lemon Flax: Use carbonated water. Lemon Frost: Top lemonade with a spoonful of stiffly beaten egg white, sweetened, and flavored with lemon juice.

Mint Lemonade: Squeeze lemon juice over 6 mint leaves which have been washed and bruised. Let stand for several minutes before adding sugar and water.

SANDWICHES AT TEA TIME Sandwiches to go with beverages should always be dainty and combine artistic design with exciting fillings—

SANDWICHES AND LEMONADE

OLD-FASHIONED BERRY SHORTCAKE

unusual combinations of both bread and "go-between." Why not try some of these suggestions the very next time you serve "summer coolers?"

SLICED SPICED MEAT SANDWICHES Sandwich combinations made with sliced spiced meat are particularly tasty with "summer coolers."

Slice canned spiced meat thinly and serve between slices of white, whole wheat, rye or raisin bread in combination with any of the following:

spoons green pepper, chopped, 3 tablespoons chopped onions, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs, 1 cup canned tomato soup and 1 cup quick or regular rolled oats.

Combine the meat, green pepper, onion and seasonings. Add beaten eggs, tomato soup and rolled oats. Pack in a loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour 30 minutes. Serves 10.

'Y' Camp at Troy Will Open July 2

Camp Van Schoonhoven, the Troy "Y" Camp, where the Kingston boys will camp this year will open on July 2. J. Richard Jackson, director of the camp, has been at camp with a crew of workers for the past two weeks getting the grounds and equipment in shape for the incoming campers. The mess-hall and lodge are completed, the cabins and tent houses are shined up and ready for occupancy. The athletic field and the tennis courts have been put in first class shape. The first of this week, work was started on the waterfront, and by the end of the week, the boats, canoes, swimming float and docks will be ready for use. Camp is looking spick and span already.

"Skipper" Jackson says the horses at the stable have been asking when the boys would be arriving. It seems they are anxious to be ridden. Fish are playing around the waterfront apparently waiting to grab the boys' hooks. It looks like a great season with some of the campers already trying to claim the championship in various sports including fishing. Ellis T. Bookwalter, Boys' Work secretary of the local "Y", will be in camp the first two weeks. To date Robert Weber, Brian Owens, Billy McBride, Joseph J. Magnino, Jr., Larry Decker, Kenneth M. Snyder of New Paltz; George P. Vogel, George Shufeldt, Thomas Jones, Charles Bouton and James Roe have signed to attend the same period. Peter Finger of Germantown, has also signed. There are at least seven other boys that expect to attend but have not yet signed up.

New Machine Creates Speech for Hollywood

Hollywood, June 22 (AP)—Engineers from the motion picture studios listened last night to a strange new machine which created speech out of the roar of an airplane and out of the puffing of a locomotive.

The voice of a baritone was converted into that of a soprano, and that of a single crooner came out of the loudspeaker as a trio.

Some day soon the machine may be put to practical use in the movies, suggested Homer Dudley, Bell Telephone Company engineer and one of the originators.

It may provide the voices for animal cartoons, may even give Donald Duck's irritated speech new screen appeal. Another use may be to change the voice of an actor playing a role which covers a life-span—to give a voice youth or age.

It was the first public demonstration for the machine, named the Vocoder.

Dudley told his audience of studio sound men the vocoder actually investigated and analyzed speech and then remodeled it in practically any form desired.

Asks Shorter Week

Buffalo, N. Y., June 22 (AP)—Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York left with the national conference of social work today an appeal for shortening the work week to provide for extra shifts of men—more jobs. "In many cases all that has been done at this time," LaGuardia told a general conference session last night, "has been to give overtime to the man who has a job without giving a job to the other fellow, which was the intention of the (federal wage and hour) law."

Mayor Announces New Stadium Opening, Saturday July 29

Two Police Teams Feature Twin Bill On Gala Program

Local Coppers to Meet the Newburgh Nine—New York Police Against the Colonials

Kingston's new municipal stadium will be opened officially on Saturday, July 29, Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman announced today with the Kingston police furnishing all the pomp and ceremony.

With marked pride, the mayor told the sports department about the "grand opening" and said all details would be checked thoroughly at the big uptown ball park for the occasion, a red letter date in local athletic records.

On the program will be a game between the Kingston and Newburgh police baseball teams, keen rivals over a period of years, and a special feature showing the Kingston Colonials against the New York police team.

In addition there will be the usual bill of ceremonies befitting the occasion with speeches by Mayor Heiselman and other dignitaries to be invited for the big date Kingston sports fans have long awaited.

The Kingston-Newburgh police ball game will start promptly at 2 o'clock. President Ed Leonard of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association said, and the other attraction between the New Yorkers and Colonials will follow, making an attractive double-header program for baseball lovers.

Mayor Heiselman made his announcement about the grand opening of the new stadium after consulting with Alderman Paul Zucca, chairman of the group from the common council in charge of arrangements for the park.

"Alderman Zucca said he saw no reason for holding off any longer than July 29 on the stadium," the mayor told the press, "although there will be still some work to be done before it is wholly completed."

All necessary arrangements for the big opening will be checked and rehearsed as far as the stadium is concerned, the mayor said, and the rest is up to President Leonard of the P.B.A. concerning the baseball games.

Patrolman Leonard, in a talk with reporters, volunteered that those who attend will see two "real hot baseball games."

"Lieut. James V. Simpson is bound his Kingston team will beat the Newburghers, and he'll start driving the players in workouts to begin this week."

There's plenty of rivalry between these two clubs of Night Stick Welders, and all the thrills of past years should be repeated, especially with the local Coppers battling away for a victory in that opening program of the new stadium.

"New stadium or no new stadium," said Chief Brown of the Hilly City club, "we can beat Kingston this summer, and we're out to do just that."

About the game between the Colonials and New York Cops, this should be one of the highlights of the present baseball season, because the Metropolitan Blue Coats have a good reputation to uphold.

"We feel extremely fortunate in procuring the New York Police, because they decided against traveling this summer on account of the World's Fair, which puts an extra load on the traffic and other squads of Mayor LaGuardia's patrol forces," said Ed Leonard.

Kingston is the only city in which the New York Cops will play this year, outside of their own parks in the great metropolis.

Further plans for the stadium opening will be announced through The Freeman as soon as they are completed.

Shift in Softball

The Catholic Church Softball League game between Port Ewen Presentation and Immaculate Conception Friday night originally scheduled for Hasbrouck Park will be played instead at Port Ewen due to Community Night at the park.

Forsts ran wild at Loughran Park last week to run up 25 runs over the County Club Frocks as the dressmakers scored 14 tallies in an industrial softball game.

In this tilt one of the wildest and woolliest of the season, the defensive play was exceedingly erratic, although the Packers with eight miscues came through to cop the duke.

By virtue of the victory, the Forsts claim the first half of the Industrial League schedule.

Knutte Beichert of the Powder Boys had a perfect evening with the stick, hitting a triple, double and single. Krom and Kennedy hit three out of five, and Avery added to his pitching honors by cracking out a homer.

The Congregationals won 10 to 3 over Albany Avenue Baptists and Trinity Lutheran won 6 to 3 over St. James. The games last evening were the first of the second series.

The Schedule

Scheduled this evening is: Clinton Avenue vs. Redeemers at armory and Fair Street vs. Port Ewen at Barrmann lot. Fair Street has not yet played the Port Ewen team in the first half. Grunies, Boiceville Play In Twi-Loop Game Tonight

Grunewalds and Boiceville tee off on tonight's City League second-half tilt at the Athletic Field at 6:30. Resuming play after yesterday's open date, the twi-circuit offers the last half debut of the revised Bakers' and Rangers' rosters. Boiceville, although winding up in the cellar, made a big hit with the City Loop patrons by their hustling first-half play. Lou Knapp's crew always gave a good show, win, lose or draw and were constant threats to the leaders. Hounded by bad breaks, the Rangers dropped heart-breakers to the Independents and Wiltwicks in the closing stages. Greatly improved over their early season form the Rangers will take plenty of stopping this half.

Grunewalds are expected to come back in the final half. Winning but three out of eight in the initial half, the Bakersbyes respected their followers by ragged defensive play. Greatly bolstered by the addition of the K. H. S. trio of Lindhurst, Decker and Gavis the Weissenborn finally got going.

Gehrig Must Live Quietly, Paralysis Cause Not Given

New York, June 22 (AP).—It's evident now that Lou Gehrig made the smartest decision of his life when he voluntarily removed himself from the Yankee lineup last May 2 and broke his amazing endurance record.

If he had stayed in there stubbornly and fought it out with his failing faculties, the great first baseman might by this time have been seriously injured or so far have undermined his health that recovery would have been hopeless.

As it is, there seems reason to believe that the treatment prescribed by Mayo clinic specialists will arrest the infantile paralysis that his afflicted Lou and enable him to enjoy a moderately active life on the riches he has accumulated from baseball.

If he had continued to play, Gehrig sooner or later would have been hurt. It was plain this spring that his reflexes had slowed alarmingly. Ball after ball went down the line between him and first base, he would in other years have reached down and snagged without a second thought.

But the real danger was at the plate, where the fast pitches were zinging past his head. A man needs to duck almost instinctively when a fireball comes straight for the scalp. Inevitably one of them would have damped Gehrig insensibly on the grass. Perhaps Lou sensed his danger, though he says he hadn't the faintest idea there was anything seriously wrong with his mechanism until the doctors handed him their report at Rochester.

Cause Unannounced
"If I had known I would have been out there a long time ago, believe me," he said as he sprawled on the Yankee bench a few minutes after President Ed Barrow had announced the bad news. "No, the doctors couldn't tell me what caused it—whether it was over-exercise or diet or what. It's very rare, they said."

One after another of Lou's teammates and baseball writers dropped down besides him to say "hard luck, fellow," but the only reaction they got from the old iron boss was a long-winded dissertation on the miracles being wrought at Mayo clinic. He is more than sold on the institution.

He said they hadn't told him what sort of treatment he would take, whether it would be external, internal or by injection.

Light Exercise

"All I'm supposed to do is report to my doctor here regularly and not take much exercise," he explained. "No, I'm not going to retire and go fishing. What more relaxation could I get than being right here and there with these kids every day?"

Lou's present duties as field captain of the Yankees practically amount to a rest cure. All he needs to do is put on his uniform daily and present the Yankee batting order to the umpire just before the game starts. Also, he is privileged to charge out and argue with the arbiters on close decisions now and then, but he probably will do less of that from now on.

Salary Continues

His salary, believed still to be the largest of any player not also a manager, will continue this season. What the Yankees will figure out for him to do next year is a question. It depends largely, of course, upon the extent of his recovery. They scarcely could appoint a sick man to manage one of their farm teams, even if Gehrig wanted such a job.

Outwardly, Lou shows no signs of the disease. In fact, he looks exceptionally healthy and his moving-picture grin is handsome as ever. His spirit is high. He looked glum only once. That was when Manager Joe McCarthy, who just had heard the news, went over and sat beside his former great star. They didn't say anything to each other. They just sat and looked out on the diamond.

Pacific Coast Athletes Victors

Berkeley, Calif., June 22 (AP).—For the third straight year an all-star team of Pacific Coast Conference performers has demonstrated superiority over the Big Ten Conference.

The coast team captured 13 of the 15 events and won, 94½ to 36-2-3.

Individual scoring honors went to Clyde Jeffrel of Stanford, who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes to tally 10 points for the coasters. Bill Watson, Michigan star, took seconds in the broad jump, discus and shot put for nine points.

Joe Bowman, Pittsburgh Pirates' pitcher, is one of the rarest phenomena in baseball, an outfielder who became a pitcher. Plenty of pitchers in every baseball era turn into outfielders, from Babe Ruth on down. Bowman was so good as an outfielder for Puelo in 1929 that the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League bought him 1930 the Beavers optioned him to Omaha and it was there that Joe first tried his hand at the pitching profession, which has enrolled him as a major league member for a half-dozen years past.

Mrs. Dick Bartell, wife of the Chicago Cubs' shortstop, not only follows the play-by-play and keeps score on Dick during the ball game but back home she has waiting for him an enormous salad, crowded with all kinds of green and succulent vegetables. The salad constitutes the main item in Dick's evening meal when a best wave is in progress.

List of Gehrig Records In 15 Years as Yankee

Here are some of the records that Lou Gehrig set during his fifteen years of action with the New York Yankees:

Colonials Hook Up With Saugerties On Friday Night

His Saugerties will merge with the Colonials A. C. Manager Fred Davi said today, for a game at the Paper Town tomorrow evening against the Mohawk Giants, leaders of the State League.

"With Carl Husta, Tommy DuBois, 'Gabby' Benjamin and Charlie Neff in their lineup, the Saugerties boys should give the Giants a run for their money," said Davi.

Charlie Neff probably will get the pitching assignment for the tilt, scheduled at 6:15 o'clock.

Deacon Danny MacFayden, ace of the Boston Bees who's been a major leaguer since 1926 and never pitched an inning of minor league ball, believes that life really starts getting interesting at the age of 33. Dan became 33 years old June 10, beat the Chicago Cubs a neat 4-3 decision June 11, and on June 12 he pitched in the Cooperstown Centennial Cavalcade game at Baseball's birthplace. "Starts out like a busy year," says Dan.

Indies, Joneses Did the Best City League Fielding

Jack Dawkins' Independents topped the team fielding averages with a natty .933 squad record, according to the City League first half defensive ratings released by Secretary Jim Geoghan. The Indies, who also copped the first half batting honors, shone from a defensive standpoint having a 3-point edge on the classy fielding Jones Dairy. Ad Jones' clever ball-handlers wound up in the runner-up slot with a .930 mark.

Grunewalds' ragged defense plunged them into the cellar when it came to fielding the grass cutters, terminating with a new low of .856. Grunies committed the most errors, 33 in all, with Jones Dairy blundering least with 16 miscues. Gus Steigerwald's Wiltwicks were credited with the most assists, 79, while Boiceville handled the fewest, 55. The Indies with 251 chances handled the most total outs with Wiltwicks handling 221 for second place honors.

The official first half team fielding averages as compiled by Secretary Jim Geoghan follow:

Second Annual Canoe Race This Sunday at Williams Lake

Keeping in stride with the colorful intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson Saturday afternoon, boat racing enthusiasts will have another opportunity to see a race Sunday afternoon at Williams Lake in Rosendale, where the American Canoe Association is sponsoring its second annual Williams Lake regatta.

More than 100 paddlers from the Atlantic division and 50 from the New England division of the association have entered this event, which is the most outstanding on the Williams Lake sports card this summer.

Ernie Reidel, of the Pendleton Canoe Club in Yonkers, a member of the 1936 Olympic team and international double-blade senior champion, heads a list of entrants hailing from 12 canoe clubs in Washington, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Belleville and Hackensack, in New Jersey, Somerset and Leeds in Massachusetts.

Arrangements for the eight-hour program of races and canoe tilting and other canoe stunts are being made by J. Hydon Bacon of Hackensack, N. J., regatta chairman of the Atlantic division of the A. C. A.

George Ryan, chairman of the United States paddling committee, and Albert Bauer, coach of the last United States Olympic team, will be on hand to officiate.

Indies, Joneses Did the Best City League Fielding

Jack Dawkins' Independents topped the team fielding averages with a natty .933 squad record, according to the City League first half defensive ratings released by Secretary Jim Geoghan. The Indies, who also copped the first half batting honors, shone from a defensive standpoint having a 3-point edge on the classy fielding Jones Dairy. Ad Jones' clever ball-handlers wound up in the runner-up slot with a .930 mark.

Grunewalds' ragged defense plunged them into the cellar when it came to fielding the grass cutters, terminating with a new low of .856. Grunies committed the most errors, 33 in all, with Jones Dairy blundering least with 16 miscues. Gus Steigerwald's Wiltwicks were credited with the most assists, 79, while Boiceville handled the fewest, 55. The Indies with 251 chances handled the most total outs with Wiltwicks handling 221 for second place honors.

The official first half team fielding averages as compiled by Secretary Jim Geoghan follow:

	Fielding Average	(First Half)
Independents	.933	G P O A E Pct.
Jones Dairy	.930	9 179 72 18 .933
Wiltwicks	.886	8 153 61 16 .886
Boiceville	.856	8 148 59 20 .882
Grunewalds	.856	9 151 59 33 .856

Saugerties Here Sunday vs. Indies

A special baseball attraction will be played at the Athletic Field Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock between the Independents, leaders of the first half of the City League, and the Saugerties M. and F. Club.

Manager Jack Dawkins announced the game today, after making reservations for the Athletic Field, saying he probably would use Bill Thomas or Lefty Martin to pitch for the Indies, with Bud Swarthout in reserve. Gene Rider will catch.

The Saugerties battery is unannounced.

Movable camps to house itinerant farm laborers are being introduced in California by the federal Government.

Chicago Caddies Learn Their Trade at Golf Training School

Wendell Hill, caddy at Chicago's West-land club, makes his caddies attend a training school and teaches them the right way to handle a caddy's job.

Hill selects a club as the caddy on the left shows how the bag should be held. The center caddy, with bag over his shoulder, illustrates the wrong way.

This caddy demonstrates how the bag should be laid pointing to the spot where the ball entered the rough.

Caddy lifts the pin so it doesn't touch hole. If stick nicks side of hole, the dent might swerve putted ball from cup.

Caddy grasps standard, holding flag to keep it from blowing, and is careful that his shadow doesn't fall across hole.

If fans ask the reason why the Giants are bursting forth from their amazing spring slump, all they have to do is take a look at Jo-Jo Moore, the lean Texan who was the batting order spark-plug of their championship years. Jo-Jo smashed his batting slump with a pair of luster homers June 6 and since then has been the Moore of yore. At one point in mid-May Jo-Jo sported a batting average of .173, the lowest he ever wore in his eight-year major league career.

Whitey Moore, rising right-hand sensation of the Cincy Reds, has always been a tough man to shave when he gets that control in order. Back in '37 for Syracuse he pitched a no-hitter against Jersey City and to prove it was no fluke, his next time out he hurled a one-hitter against Montreal. The only batters when he has one of the nightmares for which he is famous. He says that in one of these things one night he saw Ott, Lombardi, Medwick and Mize all standing at the plate batting at the same time.

Scouts have discovered great baseball players on school teams, factory teams, college and army post teams. Bill Herman, Chicago Cub captain and classy keystone guardian, was recruited off a church team for his first professional trial. Cap Neal, of the Louisville Colonels, signed Bill after watching him star for the New Covenant Presbyterian Church team which won the Louisville independent championship in 1927. That year's world series was the first Bill ever saw, because a trip to the series was the prize for winning the city crown.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press
There are a lot of persons who think that Adolph Camilli, a squat, stubborn truckhorse with delusions of being a racer, is the best first baseman in the National League and, possibly in all baseball. There are others who do not—but this group suddenly has lost a lot of members.

Camilli (and eight other Brooklyn bumptkins) beat the Cincinnati Reds last night, 2-1, and the deciding blow was a home run by Camilli in the ninth inning. Furthermore he capped his customary fine fielding game with a spectacular one-handed stab of a liner in the same inning.

The Dodgers' other run was also a homer, by Tuck Stainback, and gave Whitlow Wyatt his seventh victory without defeat. The Dodgers got only two other hits off Johnny Vander Meer, who struck out seven and walked four. Wyatt yielded five hits but didn't pass a batter.

Batted in 44

Camilli's circuit clout was his 13th of the season, and brought his total of runs batted in to 44, although his batting average is a modest .276. Therein lies the paradox of Camilli. In five full seasons in the National League with Chicago, Philadelphia and Brooklyn his percentage has fluctuated anywhere from last year's .251 to the previous season's .339, but his consistency "as a power hitter" never has wavered.

He never has batted in less than 80 runs and last year with his lowest batting mark he knocked in 100 runs, just two less than he produced in 1936 on a .315 percentage and 20 more than in 1937 on his best percentage performance.

Two Failings

He has two failings. He is good for 80 to 100 or more strikeouts a season (Vander Meer caught him twice last night) and he gives Brooklyn its weirdest base running since Babe Herman. The other day he tried to go from first to third on a throw that trickled away from the first baseman and Sunday at Chicago started from second for home on a drive to short right, only to stop to ponder his action half-way between third and the plate.

All the other first division clubs advanced against Cincinnati yesterday. Curt Davis, with some steady pitching and his own big bat which accounted for a homer and two other hits, led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 14-2 victory over the Phillies. Eight of the Cards' runs were bunched in one inning when Don Gutteridge shored with two on.

The New York Giants pinched the Pirates, 6-4, with Carl Hubbell doing an excellent relief chore to save the game for Cliff Melton, and Earl Whitehill of the Cubs shut out the Boston Bees 3-0 on seven hits although his own team touched Bill Posedel for only five.

The World Champion Yankees cuffed Chicago's White Sox badly in the middle innings for a 9-8 victory after the Pale Hose had attained a 6-0 lead. The clincher was a home run by Bill Dickey with one on in the seventh.

Jack Kramer got himself and the St. Louis Browns back into the win column with a 6-0 shut-out of the Boston Red Sox although he had to scatter 10 hits and four walks to do it.

The Cleveland Indians snatched a wild and wonderful meale at Washington, 9-8, when Joe Krauskas showed some of the traits for which southpaws are notorious, throwing to the wrong base once and committing a balk in a pinch. The Senators let Joe Haynes ride all the way through a six-run tribal uprising but Cleveland used three pitchers in one inning when the Senators scored three runs.

Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics were idle.

Hits Crossing Gates

Robert Siedler, 13, of 112 Linden avenue, while riding his bicycle on Broadway about 8 o'clock this morning, ran head-on into the crossing gates of the West Shore railroad. The boy suffered a cut over the head. He was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Officers Cramer and McGrane in one of the radio cars.

Burk, Champion U. S. Sculler, Trains All Around the Calendar

On a New Jersey farm Joe Burk carries baskets of apples. Look at those arms.

Philadelphia, (AP)—America's premier sculler, Joe Burk, is going to England to defend his Diamond sculls championship at the Henley royal regatta early in July.

While Joe is hopeful of retaining the Diamond sculls crown his prime ambition is to make the United States 1940 Olympic team and become the first American in 20 years to win the Olympic single sculls championship.

John B. (Jack) Kelly, now a prominent Philadelphian, was the last American to win the Olympic event—in 1920 at Antwerp.

Joe lives with his parents at their farm at nearby Beverly, N. J., where he helps with the chores and trains the year-around on Rancocas creek.

He has rowed as high as 50 strokes a minute in practice and 48 to 49 in competition. In winning the Diamond sculls last year he set a new record of 8 minutes, 2 seconds for the mile and 5/16th course and astonished Britons with his high beat.

Special Outdoor Services Planned For Lawton Park

Each Sunday evening during the months of July and August there will be a union outdoor vesper service at Lawton Park, under the direction of the Kingston Ministerial Association. For the month of July the service will begin at 7:30 o'clock and in August at 7 o'clock. In case of rain the union service is to be held in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Lawton Park is equipped with a stone pulpit, and the setting in front of the pulpit seems ideal for outdoor worship. Seating accommodations and piano are being provided through the courtesy of Mayor Heiselman.

The committee of the association in charge of arrangements for the program of this first of such union outdoor services ever to be held in Kingston consists of the following ministers: The Rev. William J. McVey of the First Presbyterian Church, chairman; the Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle of the Redeemer Lutheran Church; the Rev. William R. Peckham of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church; the Rev. Charles F. Kirtan of the A. M. E. Zion Church, and Adjutant Frederick W. Seiler of the Salvation Army. The schedule of preachers for the entire series is as follows:

July 2, the Rev. Arthur E. Oudomol of the First Dutch Reformed Church and president of the association; July 9, the Rev. Paul M. Young of St. Paul's Lutheran Church; July 16, the Rev. D. Linton Doherty of the Rondout Presbyterian Church; July 23, the Rev. Maurice V. Venn of St. John's Episcopal Church; July 30, the Rev. Arthur E. Carroll of St. James M. E. Church. The program of the latter service will be in charge of the Young People's Union of the city.

August 6, the Rev. Charles E. Kirtan of the A. M. E. Zion Church; August 13, Adjutant Frederick W. Seiler and the Salvation Army Band; August 20, Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel; August 27, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole of Albany Avenue Baptist Church. Each speaker is to provide special music and singing and ushers, except for the Young People's service on July 30 and that of August 20. Congregational singing will be directed by a song leader and it is hoped a cornetist will assist. The meetings are open to the public.

the school newspaper for the past three years. This year she is co-editor. She has served as secretary-treasurer of the Liberty Club, treasurer of the Minute Girls, secretary of the Art Club, and a member of the High School Glee Club. She is vitally interested in the field of teaching and plans to enter the New Paltz Normal School in the fall.

High school speakers for graduation night were chosen on a competitive basis by the faculty. The theme for graduation is, "The School of Tomorrow." The speakers are Irving Braunstein, Dwight Terwilliger, Winona Terwilliger, Evelyn Newman, and David Rothenberg.

This year the eighth grade graduation exercises will be different from that of the previous years. The exercises are scheduled for Friday, June 23, at 8 p. m. when the class will present a play entitled, "What'll You Take?" This change in the usual procedure will enable more parents and friends to view both the high school and elementary graduation exercises.

Surgeons Predict Girl's Recovery From Self-Inflicted Cuts

Mrs. Helen Clay Heinz Said to Be Suffering From Self-Inflicted Cuts

Pasadena, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Surgeons said today that Mrs. Helen Clay Heinz, 21, daughter-in-law of the Pittsburgh pickle canner, would recover from wrist gashes which police described as self-inflicted.

W. A. Hesson and J. H. Hand, radio police officers, quoted Mrs. Heinz as saying "I couldn't stand it any longer."

They said her mother, Mrs. G. C. Goodloe of Lexington, Ky., told them "she (Mrs. Heinz) was having trouble with her husband," Rust Heinz.

The marriage was a social event of May, 1937. The officers said Mrs. Heinz, an attractive brunette, took sleeping tablets at her home Tuesday night and slashed her wrists with a carving knife yesterday afternoon. She summoned her mother and a brother, William, who took her to a hospital.

She was reluctant to discuss the incident. Physicians, predicting her recovery, said the wounds were superficial and loss of blood slight. Young Heinz is an automobile designer and son of Howard Heinz.

Records of the Youth Hostel association show that more girls go hiking and cycling than boys.

Rover is Reasonable, Has Charge Account

Kinston, N. C., June 22 (AP).—L. P. Tyndall says if his dog, Rover, "wasn't reasonable, I wouldn't let him have a charge account, but he has never been a glutton."

When Rover is hungry he goes to a butcher and barks his choice before a display case. It used to be beef every time, but now he often has a tooth for frankfurters and hamburgers.

Long's Brother To Be Governor

loaded with window sashes made at the university, had brought them to a house being built by a close friend of Governor Leche.

Leche called an open hearing in Baton Rouge. The hearing later was indefinitely postponed pending investigation of "other matters." Soon afterward the Shreveport Journal printed a syndicated article from Washington, in which Leche's name again was mentioned. State WPA Administrator J. H. Crotcher promptly announced an investigation had been started on orders from Washington, adding that "if the evidence warrants, the charges will be prosecuted without delay in the United States courts." The inquiry opened yesterday.

Leche had been unavailable to newspapermen who vainly sought him all week. The announcement was his first public comment following the WPA administrator's action.

The 41-year-old governor, who took office in 1936 remained in his sickbed.

The incoming governor, two years younger than his brother now buried on the terraced lawn of the state capitol, lacks some of the colorful personality but none of Huey's spirit and vindictiveness.

He is noted as a rough-and-tumble fighter, with more gift for the direct attack and less ability in oratorical debate than Huey Long, against whom he once turned in a public denunciation. Memories of his tirade still stir "Kingfish" followers, who regarded Earl as a turncoat.

An ex-traveling salesman like Huey, Earl Long finished law school and held minor political jobs for several years after his brother became governor in 1928. Embittered at Huey's failure to support him for lieutenant governor in 1931 he ran on an opposition ticket, finished last.

Later the brothers were reconciled, and at the time Huey Long was killed in the capitol in September, 1935, Earl said he was "one of the leaders in the organization." He sat in on the anxious parleys following the killings, emerged as candidate for lieutenant governor, and was easily elected.
